STATE ATTORNEY BELIEVES FARM ACT NOT INVALID

Says New Long-Sponsored Law Not Applicable To Body

Louisiana Farm Benefits For 1935 May Reach $17,000,000

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Attorney-General Gaston L. Porterie today ruled that the act of the late Senator Huey P. Long's last legislative special session forbidding "unconstitutional" federal activities in Louisiana did not apply to the agricultural adjustment administration.

The attorney-general's opinion was transmitted to Marcel J. Voorhies, Louisiana AAA representative in charge of sugar and syrup production, in response to request.

Porterie told Voorhies he "did not consider the agricultural adjustment act violative at all in any mode or manner of amendment ten of the federal constitution."

Crop benefit to Louisiana farmers under the AAA farm program are expected to reach $17,000,000 for 1935.

The tenth amendment reserves to the states all rights not assigned to congress or expressly prohibited to the states.

"Therefore," Porterie said, "it follows that act 21 of the fourth extra session x x x does not involve x x x any action by the federal agencies under the agricultural adjustment act."

Act 21 of the last session makes punishable by mandatory jail sentence any "unconstitutional" act by a federal official or employe.

The text of the attorney-general's opinion follows:

"Marcel J. Voorhies,
"Senior Agricultural economist,
"Sugar Section, AAA,
"Baton Rouge, La.
"Dear Sir:

"You present to this department for consideration and answer the question whether or not any activities under the agricultural adjustment act are violative in any manner or involved in any mode by the provisions of act 21 of the fourth extra session of the legislature of Louisiana for the year, 1935.

"This department does not consider the agricultural adjustment act violative at all in any mode or manner of amendment ten of the federal constitution.

"Therefore, it follows that act 21 of the fourth extra session of the legislature of Louisiana for the year 1935 does not involve, relate to, or prohibit any action by the federal agencies under the agricultural adjustment act.

"Therefore, the government should pay all back benefit payments due on any and all agricultural adjustment contracts under the 1934 and 1935 contracts, and should feel absolutely free to enter into and make any and all future agricultural adjustment contracts as to sugar cane, cotton, rice, syrup, etc., just as if act 21 of the fourth extra session of 1935 had never been enacted.

"In order that the federal agencies may not fail to pay on old contracts and may not fail to enter into new contracts, I am, as attorney-general, under section 56 of article VII of the Louisiana constitution, and of article 17 of the code of criminal procedure, directing all district attorneys to comply with this opinion.

"In other words, the district attorneys are prevented from interfering in any way whatever with the government in either old or new agricultural contracts under the agricultural adjustment act.

"Very truly yours,
"GASTON L. PORTERIE,
"Attorney-General."

Porterie Denies Ruling On Contracts

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Attorney-General Gaston L. Porterie today denied he had ruled that AAA contracts in Louisiana would violate an act of the late Senator Huey P. Long's last special session of the legislature after October 1.

The attorney-general said he had not yet ruled upon whether AAA contracts will violate act 21 of the last session, which as written at Senator Long's dictation outlaws any federal activity in Louisiana found to be "unconstitutional."

AVIATORS FREED OF CHARGES IN KOENECKE DEATH

Airmen Are Not Called To Stand To Repeat Slaying Story

5 POLICEMEN TESTIFY

Defense Attorney Says Ball Player Felt Self Cheapened

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Charges of manslaughter against William Joseph Mulqueeney and Irwin Davis in the death of Len Koenecke, Brooklyn ball player, in an airplane above the Long Branch race track here Tuesday, were dismissed today by Magistrate Douglas Keith.

The airmen were not called to the stand to repeat the story of their "nightmare ride" from Detroit to Toronto with Koenecke as a passenger. Five policemen related the story as it was told them by Mulqueeney and Davis.

Edward J. Murphy, counsel for the fliers, in motioning for acquittal, told the magistrate that the ball player, despondent over being sent home by the Brooklyn club, "wanted to die a spectacular death."

'Felt Self Cheapened'

"He felt that he had been cheapened by being put off the St. Louis-to-Detroit plane for misbehavior," said Murphy, "and was angry with his two pals, Bobby Barr and Les Munns, for going on to New York without him."

Into the early hours a jury under Coroner Dr. Warren Snyder listened in suburban Islington to evidence that the big league baseball player attacked Pilot Mulqueeney and his companion while flying from Detroit to Buffalo.

Prof. Joslyn Rogers, chemical analyst of the University of Toronto, giving evidence that Koenecke was intoxicated, said that "if there was any tendency at all for a man to be violent or quarrelsome," Koenecke was in "excellent condition for it to break out."

The analyst testified traces of alcohol in Koenecke's organs indicated

JOHN BARRYMORE DOES NOT DESIRE TO BE QUESTIONED

Romance Blighted, Famous Actor Evades Crowd At Station

CHICAGO, Sept. 20—(AP)—John Barrymore, playing the title role in a self-evolved drama entitled "The Man Who Didn't Want to Be Made Fun of Any More," arrived in Chicago today and eluded would-be questioners by a careful bit of strategy.

The stage and screen star, whose romantic interlude with Miss Elaine Barrie came to an end in New York a few days ago, remained in his compartment long after the Twentieth Century pulled in from the east.

Rumors that Barrymore, Hollywood bound, planned to attempt a reconcil-

Bilbo Indicates He Is Against Judge Holmes

GREENVILLE, Miss., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Senator Theo G. Bilbo, in a letter to the Washington County Bar association, indicated he would oppose the confirmation of Judge Edwin R. Holmes' appointment to the United States fifth circuit court of appeals because Judge Holmes once fined and imprisoned him.

Edward J. Bogen, secretary of the bar association, said the senator's letter was in reply to a resolution adopted by the association describing Judge Holmes as a man who "has endeared himself to all who have had the pleasure of coming in contact with him either on or off the bench."

Bilbo, explaining that Judge Holmes once sentenced him to a 30-day jail sentence and fined him $100 declared he "played hell in endearing himself to me."

Holmes, judge of the southern Mississippi federal district court, was recently appointed to the circuit court by President Roosevelt, but the appointment has not yet been confirmed by the senate.

BRITAIN MASSES MIGHTY ARMADA IN MEDITERRANEAN

Tremendous power of the fleets which Britain is massing in the Mediterranean sea at Gibraltar, Malta, and Suez is graphically shown in this picture, of warships at anchor in Gibraltar harbor during previous maneuvers held by the combined Atlantic and Mediterranean fleets. Ready also for one of the greatest sea battles in history if war comes, the Italian navy is massed on both sides of the peninsula between the Adriatic and Tyrrhenian seas. From home waters all the way to the waters of far-off China, British warships were ordered under forced draft to the zone of danger as the war threat grew more menacing.

COMMERCE BODY'S DIRECTORS ARE TO STUDY NEW DEAL

Washington Interest Is Centered In Special Committee Reports

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Capital interest centered today on the meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States who have before them reports criticizing some New Deal policies.

Special committees have been preparing reports on legislative trends, on the farm program, on new labor legislation and several other subjects. Plans are being considered for presenting recommendations at the next session of congress possibly reflecting the chamber's future attitude toward the Roosevelt administration.

The directors had an opportunity to study a radio speech made last night by Secretary Roper in which he credited New Deal recovery measures with bringing about an improvement in business.

The secretary of commerce cited figures intended to show the extent of business gains and said they indicated the nation had "passed the primary stages of a great cyclical upswing and entered into that phase which will determine the course and duration of that upswing."

May Pay Union Wages

Meantime the Works Progress administration issued an order which Administrator Harry L. Hopkins says may mean the payment of union wages to some relief workers.

The new order permits state WPA administrators to fix the hours of work. Thus state administrators might retain the existing monthly "security wage" and yet bring hours of work low enough that the equiva-

Spanish Cabinet Quits After Compromise Fails

MADRID, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The cabinet of Premier Alejandro Lerroux resigned today.

The cabinet was formed April 3, 1935.

Its resignation followed unsuccessful efforts by Lerroux to reach a compromise with agrarians, who sought a greater representation in the cabinet.

It was generally expected President Alcala Zamora would ask Lerroux to form a new cabinet. Presidential consultations with party leaders were to begin later today.

The agrarian leader, Martinez De Velasco, had declined to continue collaboration of his group in the cabinet although he offered to support the government in the cortes (parliament).

Deep Sleep Continues Unabated

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Patricia Maguire, the modern "sleeping beauty," today ended her 1,313th day, a helpless victim of lethargio encephalitis, her condition neither better nor worse.

As in the fairy tale, the passing years have failed to leave their mark on the physical loveliness of the suburban Oak Park "sleeping beauty," who has suffered from a baffling illness for more than three and a half years.

Mrs. Peter Miley, the girl's mother, said, "There has been no change for better or worse in Pat's condition in recent months. You know the old saying, 'Where there's life, there's hope,' and Pat's still alive."

"And if you had to move her in bed when she didn't want to be moved, you would realize how strong she is.

"Pat seems younger in appearance than when she first became ill," her mother said. "In some ways she seems lovelier. Her continued youthful, healthful appearance is one of the things that have puzzled doctors."

A pretty, vivacious girl was Pat back in 1932 before she, then 27 years old, fell a victim on Feb. 15 of the

MORON IS SOUGHT IN ATTACK CASE

Gibbering Sex Maniac Assaults Young Chicago Bride

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Squads of detectives, augmented by policewomen and volunteer vigilantes, combed the Austin district today in search of a gibbering Moron who yesterday lashed and attacked a young bride.

Throughout the night the west side district remained under heavy police guard. Policewomen, their pistols ready, patrolled the streets in the role of lures to trap the sex maniac. Both the men and women officers were under orders to "shoot to kill."

As police pressed the search, the Moron's fourth victim, Mrs. Helen James, 21, was reported in a state of hysteria resulting from the brutal assault. The attack took place in the James' apartment where the woman's husband, Orlando, was bound and gagged. Attacked three times, Mrs. James was brutally lashed with a heavy whip while her husband looked on helplessly.

Police arrested more than a dozen suspects, but all were later released.

PAYS EXPENSES IN FLIGHT TO CLEAR SELF OF CHARGES

Philadelphian Flies From New Orleans To Face Fraud Count

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A man booked by police here as Joseph H. Harvey, 41, a stock and bond salesman of Philadelphia, today chartered an airplane and paid all expenses for a flight to Philadelphia with two detectives in his effort to clear himself of a charge of fraudulent conversion of $40,000 belonging to a prominent Philadelphia family.

Chief of Detectives John J. Grosch said that Harvey paid $575 for the chartered trip by plane and took with him Detectives Andrew Arnold and Edward Sbisa, of the local force. They said they had no record of a parallel case where an accused man offered to finance such a trip to clear himself of a charge.

Tells Of Arrest

Grosch reported that Harvey was arrested on the strength of a letter received Sept. 17 from Joseph A. LeStrange, superintendent of police, Philadelphia, and that he was held on further telephone advices from LeStrange. He said there was a reward of $1,000 offered for the arrest of Harvey.

The prisoner described the charge as ridiculous and calmly told Chief Grosch that he was "absolutely innocent," that he was "prepared at my own expense to charter an airplane and pay not only my own way but the fares of detectives to take me to Philadelphia at once."

The plane was chartered and left Shushan airport here with the three men at daylight.

Harvey was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Arnold at a soda

Longshoremen May Strike In Four Southern Cities

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—(AP)—T. J. Darcy, vice-president of the International Longshoremen's association, said here that orders to strike for union recognition had been issued to members in New Orleans, Mobile, Ala., Gulfport, Miss., and Pensacola, Fla., by Joseph P. Ryan, president of the association.

Unless satisfactory arrangements are made with the steamship companies shipping in or out of these ports, the strike will be effective October 1, he said.

The orders for the strike directed members of the association to refuse to discharge or load cargo on any vessel clearing from or destined to the ports named.

ALLEN IS MUTE ABOUT UPRISING IN LONG RANKS

Confers With Wade And Noe But Refuses To Talk With Others

REBUKES CANDIDATES

Governor Has Power To Make Or Break Any Aspirant For Office

By Ralph Wheatley
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—Governor O. K. Allen, upon whose shoulders fell the mantle dropped by Huey P. Long, stood silent today before the uprising within his political ranks over selection of candidates for the January election.

He shut himself off from callers and refused to say a word about the insurrection created by Lieut-Gov. James A. Noe and Public Service Commissioner Wade O. Martin, who defied his authority by announcing their candidacies for governor and United States senator without waiting for a caucus of the Long faction.

He spent the day in conference with first one and then another but had nothing to say to the public. He was taken completely by surprise by the announcements and rebuked Noe and Martin like bad boys when they entered his office.

Jimmy, Wade Rebuked

"Jimmy, I thought you and Wade Martin had agreed to do as I said," said the governor in agitation as they came in to the governor's office in the state house after they had made their announcements in New Orleans.

But Martin and Noe emerged smiling and apparently satisfied and the governor went out of the state house through a rear exit and resumed his conferences at the mansion. There he met Seymour Weiss, one of Long's closest friends, who was reported as looking unfavorably on the Noe candidacy. They engaged in a long conference.

Down in Houma, Speaker of the House Allen Ellender roused himself from a sick bed to express disbelief that Noe had made his announcement. Ellender also is a candidate for governor and believed that Governor Allen had favored his candidacy and he was shocked when Noe issued a statement saying Allen had endorsed him.

Allen Holds Authority

But Allen, who holds the whip hand by authority of Huey Long's dictatorial laws, has refused to comment. With his power, he is in a position to make or break any candidate that

PEACE PLEA MADE BY VATICAN PAPER

Journal Protests Showing Of Propaganda Movie In Italy

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano made another appeal for peace today, declaring the Italo-Ethiopian situation "becomes even more acute on the African as well as the European front."

"In face of a situation so full of menaces," said the paper, "this appeal to the sense of responsibility of the government chiefs and to the conscience of the people must become every day more heartfelt."

The Osservatore Romano also protested against the showing of a motion picture on Ethiopia which is being exhibited throughout Italy for propaganda purposes. It called the film indecent.

Joseph P. Kennedy Quits As Securities Chairman

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt announced today the resignation of Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the securities and exchange commission.

Kennedy is retiring on Monday and will return to private business after a vacation trip to Europe.

The president and he are intimate friends and Kennedy has been asking to retire for several months. He made a fortune in his own right in the stock sales business.

TEXTILES OUTLET URGED

CRAWFORD NOTCH, N. H., Sept. 20.—(AP)—A new outlet for cotton textiles—the use of a lightweight mesh fabric for reinforcing highways—was advocated today by H. E. Barnard, director of research of the Farm Chemurgic Council of Dearborn, Mich.

Addressing the 40th quarterly meeting of the New England council, Barnard stressed the "importance of studying the potentialities in building thousands of miles of roads with material woven on New England looms now forced into idleness by disappearing foreign trade."

The use of cotton, he said, would assure adequate drainage of the interior of the highway, keeping the foundations dry and thus avoiding the frost blisters responsible for potholes and raveling.

"Should this method of road construction be adopted nationally," Barnard continued, "it is estimated that 10 million bales of surplus cotton could be utilized initially, and that for annual repair, replacements and expansion of the program, two to three million bales would be used.

"Such a program would absorb all the cotton 'carry over' now on hand and would provide a permanent increase on domestic consumption of cotton equivalent to 50 per cent of our present requirements."

VAN ZANDT AGAIN CHOSEN TO HEAD VETERANS' GROUP

Altoona Man Reelected Commander-In-Chief Of V. F. W.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—(AP)—James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, Pa., will head the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States as their commander-in-chief for his third consecutive term.

Bernard W. Kearney of Gloversville, N. Y., also will succeed himself as senior vice-commander.

Both were nominated in the annual convention here today without opposition for formal election late today.

Mr. Kearney, a candidate for the position of commander-in-chief, withdrew in favor of Van Zandt and took the floor in a glowing tribute to the leadership of Van Zandt.

Nomination Is Made

Judge Joseph Heffermen, former mayor of Youngstown, Ohio, nominated Van Zandt and Judge Arthur Day of Cleveland, seconded the nomination.

There was an enthusiastic demonstration throughout the hall over the re-nomination of the present commander-in-chief and the decision was quickly made unanimous.

Delegates arose in a mass and paraded around the hall and held most

DYNAMITE BLASTS FATAL FOR ONE

Mother Of Several Children Meets Death In Explosions

LAFOLLETTE, Tenn., Sept. 20.—(AP)—A series of dynamite explosions rocked LaFollette early today, partially wrecking a business building and killing Mrs. Prudie Rutherford, mother of several children.

The blasts tore out concrete, brick and timbers in a building near the postoffice. Mrs. Rutherford, who lived in an apartment on the second floor, was attempting to get her children out after the first explosion.

Another blast hurled her down to the first floor of the building. The children, who had reached the front of the building, escaped with only minor injuries.

The lower floor of the building was occupied by a restaurant and a plumbing shop.

Sheriff R. D. Davis and deputies began an investigation.

Dr. J. H. Tinsley, who lives in a two-story brick residence two miles from the scene of the explosion, said the blast shook his house.

"There were about six explosions," he said. "They sounded like claps of thunder."

FRENCH PREMIER QUITS GENEVA FOR CABINET SESSION

Returns To Paris To Discuss Stand Against Mussolini

HOME UNREST GROWS

Selassie Says Ethiopia Can Make No Concession To Italy

PARIS, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The possibilities of a war in Africa and unrest in France brought Premier Laval home from Geneva today to summon a plenary cabinet meeting for tomorrow.

What, if any, sanctions France will be prepared to take against Mussolini is Laval's chief problem. Hardly less important is the rising tide of internal troubles which has threatened to force him to a firm stand against Geneva.

"The alarm and growing restlessness at home is undoubtedly responsible for much of Laval's hesitation to take a strong stand at Geneva," an official said. "With the assurance of a united country behind him a strong attitude would be possible.

"Now he is forced to think of France's international obligations in the light of its internal situation."

Ethiopian Emperor Takes Firm Stand

By James A. Mills
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)
(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 20.—Emperor Haile Selassie told the Associated Press today: "We cannot make any political, economic, or territorial concessions to Italy with compensation nor can we give Italy bribes in any other form to purchase immunity from attack."

He made this statement while reviewing thousands of modernly equipped warriors who clattered past the palace on mules and Arabian horses.

Refers To League Plan

He was referring directly to the League of Nations plan for a compromise settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute. The plan had been submitted to him from Geneva.

"If we did make such compromises, we would invite other attacks in the future," said the king of kings. "As an independent, sovereign empire, we insist on the preservation of our liberty, the maintenance of our economic integrity, and the inviolability of our frontiers.

"We have committed no act which in law or in morals justifies Italy in menacing us with war. We have come before the bar of international justice with clean consciences.

"Let mankind judge us on our record. Let no pretended leader of Christiandom attempt to crucify an innocent people crying out for justice and mercy."

The Associated Press correspondent asked: "Premier Mussolini says he wishes to civilize Ethiopia; what does your majesty say to that?"

Replies To Query

Waiting until the brass band heading his marching troops had ceased playing the national anthem, Haile Selassie said slowly and reflectively, stroking his grey-tinged, curly beard:

"God forbid that Italy should give us such a civilization through the instrumentality of war. One is the negation of the other.

"Our own civilization is one in which Christ himself lived. If it was suited for the greatest man of all time it is good for us.

"By this, I do not wish to say we oppose social and economic progress. Such progress has continued and will continue with all the rapidity compatible with the political and intellectual advancement of our people without our limited financial resources."

Italy To Protest Moves By England

(By Associated Press)

Great Britain's concentration of fighting ships in the Mediterranean is to be met, according to a high official in Rome, with a protest by Italy to the League of Nations council.

Italian sources, particularly the Italian press, said the British action constituted a threat of war.

Official surprise was immediately expressed in London, where authorities said that the British fleet maneuvers were purely precautionary in the light of possibility of hostilities between Italy and Ethiopia along the

BAR ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEMORIAL

Exercises Conducted At Courthouse To Honor J. J. Potts' Memory

Memorial exercises were held in the courthouse on Monday by the Fourth Judicial District Bar association. A resolution was read and adopted in connection with the death of Hon. John James Potts of Monroe, member of this group for many years.

The resolution was ordered spread on the minutes of the court by Judge F. T. Shell, who adjourned court for the day out of respect to Mr. Potts.

The resolution recited some of the events of Mr. Potts early life. He was born in Rayville, December 8, 1873, the son of the late Judge William N. Potts and Mrs. Summer Hudson Potts.

Studied At Tulane

After completing his public school education in Monroe, where the family had removed from Rayville, Mr. Potts went to Tulane university, where he was graduated in May, 1895. He qualified to practice law before the supreme court during the same month.

His first legal connection was with the firm of Potts and Hudson. In 1897, Henry Bernstein was admitted to the firm, thereafter known as Hudson, Potts and Bernstein.

In 1914, Allan Sholars entered the firm, which then was changed to that of Hudson, Potts, Bernstein and Sholars. This firm continued under this name until November 1, 1932, when Mr. Sholars withdrew and the firm became known as Hudson, Potts and Bernstein. This name is still continued, notwithstanding the death of Mr. Potts, as a tribute to his memory.

Was Active Lawyer

Mr. Potts, in connection with his firm, was for years actively engaged or interested in highly important litigation conducted in northeast Louisiana during his professional career. He was extensively engaged in agriculture and in the production and sale of natural gas in the Monroe and nearby fields. His recognized legal ability caused him to be sought for and accorded posts on the directorate of many large corporations. The correctness of his investigations and soundness of his legal conclusions resulted in constant demand for his time and employment in positions of trust, which he ever faithfully discharged.

He was a member of Grace Episcopal church, where he served as vestryman. He ranked as one of the most devoted members and gave freely of his time and money to the cause.

In Masonic circles, he was identified with Western Star lodge. He was a thirty-second degree Mason and member of the Mystic Shrine.

Married Miss Maxwell

He was married to Miss Flora Maxwell of Madison parish on November 25, 1902, who survives her husband, as does an only child, Mrs. Alma Summer Potts Peters of Alexandria.

The resolution ends with: "He was a dutiful, provident and affectionate husband and brother, a prudent and loving father, an upstanding and forward-looking citizen, whose passing is a distinct loss to his family, his profession, his associates, his clients and to the city, parish and state."

The resolution was drawn by John Munholland, J. C. Theus, and H. F. Madison, Jr., as a special committee named by the bar association.

Presentation of a large American flag to St. Matthew's Parochial school was made Friday by Riley J. Bryan, sophomore at the institution.

Young Bryan made the presentation in honor of his father, the late Z. T. Bryan, who died eight years ago. Mr. Bryan was a veteran of the World war, and the flag draped his casket when last rites were held for him.

The sisters and students of the school expressed appreciation to the donor of the flag, a symbol of a soldier's loyalty to his country.

Had No Attacks Of Indigestion Since She Began Gly-Cas

Her Housework Is a Pleasure Feeling As She Does Today; Freed of Rheumatic Suffering Too, Former Pep and Energy Restored, Like New Again.

"I had been almost helpless with rheumatism before I began Gly-Cas," said Mrs. T. W. Glenn, 108 Adams street, Monroe, highly respected local lady who has lived in this parish for the past nineteen years, recently in talking with the Gly-Cas Man who is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Phoenix Drug Co., 348 Dellard street, this city:

MRS. T. W. GLENN

"For 20 years my joints had been so affected I could hardly endure the awful pain," continued Mrs. Glenn, "At times the rheumatism was so severe I would be confined to my bed and I could hardly move even to turn in different positions. Sleep of course was next to impossible and much of the time I had to be assisted to get out of a chair. I do not recall the number of years I had been troubled with constipation. But I had terrible stomach trouble so badly that everything I ate seemed to give me indigestion, souring of food, spitting up and heartburn. I was always taking first one kind of a medicine then another—doing my best to find relief—hoping to find something to help me—but they all semed to lose their power when tried on my case—until I began Gly-Cas—it is the very medicine I should have had years before."

"Gly-Cas went to the very source of my health troubles and today I am feeling like an entirely different person," continued Mrs. Glenn, "Constipation was remedied almost at once and I have not had a single attack of indigestion since I began this new remedy. I can now eat and enjoy the more substantial foods without the least distress afterwards. I am now feeling the best I have in many, many years and that dreadful rheumatic condition is hardly noticeable. I am now doing all my own housework and it is a real pleasure feeling as I do today. I get perfect sleep and rest and feel full of pep and energy upon awakening. Gly-Cas is one medicine that removes the poisons from the system in a most natural way—giving real results where all else had failed."

So it goes—another case right here in Monroe where Gly-Cas accomplished the seemingly impossible.

The Gly-Cas Man is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Phoenix Drug Co., 348 Dellard street, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this valuable new medical discovery.

ALLEN IS MUTE ABOUT UPRISING IN LONG RANKS

raises his head but so far he has chosen to remain mute. Some of his advisers have urged him to keep quiet until the spell of announcements for office is over and then make a decision.

The Noe-Martin announcement opened the way and E. A. Conway, secretary of state, L. B. Baynard, state auditor, Lucille May Grace, registrar of the state land office, and T. H. Harris, superintendent of education, all announced their candidacies for re-election. Other candidates were expected to announce without delay.

Smith In Background

Behind all of the hullabaloo stands the robust Gerald L. K. Smith, organizer of the "share-the-wealth" societies, who sat in the all night conference with Noe and Martin and wielded an influence that resulted in the formal announcements. This former Christian church minister, who has told his audiences that he feels the arms of Huey Long are about him, is a supporter of Noe in the belief that he would carry forward his "share-the-wealth" movement.

While the relic of the Long machine was being blasted loose by the Noe-Martin coup, the opposition forces looked on with interest. Congressman Cleveland Dear, who apparently will lead the opposition as candidate for governor, said their slate was not yet ready but that the confusion in the Allen organization is "what the people must expect."

lent of union hourly wages would be paid.

The question of higher wages for soft coal miners continued to be a stumbling block in the negotiations between union leaders and mine operators for a new wage and hour contract in the vast Appalachian bituminous coal field.

Negotiators met again today in an effort to break the deadlock before the present contract, after its fifth extension, expires at midnight Sunday. Neither side appeared overly optimistic.

Choudrant

A chicken supper was given at the new Woodlawn park, at Ruston, recently, when the rural carriers of the fifth district entertained their wives and a few guests. H. L. McKnight, secretary-manager of the Ruston chamber of commerce, was principal speaker of the evening. He talked on the beautiful new park and said it promises to be the prettiest in north Louisiana. C. R. Griffith, of Chatham, who recently attended the national convention of rural carriers, held at Boston, Mass., gave a brief outline of his trip. Mr. Tolar of Wyatt, president of the fifth district association, made a short talk. The following rural carriers and wives present were: Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Hogan, of Choudrant, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. The following officers were elected: Vivian Simpson, president; Nell Williams, vice-president; Mary June Brewster, secretary and treasurer; Reita Allen, song leader; Joy Allen, Ernestine Simpson and Lallage Sizemore, program committee; Sunshine Kidd and Helen Green, membership committee. Miss Sizemore was very optimistic over the increase of membership and is planning to have at least 20 members present at the next meeting. Following routine business, a song, "Bring Them In," with a prayer, led by Miss Reita Allen, closed the meeting.

Members of the Y. W. A. of the Baptist church enjoyed an inspiring meeting recently in the home of Mrs. Raymond Bennett. "Stewardship of Time, Talents and Opportunities" was the topic discussed by Misses Vivian Farmer, Louise Easterling, Crystal Richmond, Mary Taylor, Lallaze Sizemore and Evelyn Brewster. Following the business period, refreshments were served to the twelve members attending by Mrs. Bennett with the assistance of Dorothy Brewster and Mary Jean Mabry.

The Sunbeams, sponsored by the Y. W. A. of the Baptist church, enjoyed an outdoor picnic on the church grounds recently. Lively games were the entertainment. FRENCH PREMIER QUITS GENEVA FOR CABINET SESSION route of the British empire communications. There was no threat against Italy, they stated.

Speculation Aroused

Meanwhile, speculation was aroused as to the whereabouts of Italian ships which had not reported into the Suez canal, although they were due there a week ago.

Any application of sanctions against Italy to halt its Ethiopian campaign—already being discussed in League of Nations circles—drew an advance answer from Italy.

A royal decree gave Premier Benito Mussolini sole power to interpret the international war code for Italy—a legal position to answer any attacks on his African program.

The decree established a commission for "revision of the agreements which have disciplined the conduct of war among the belligerents and neutrals," and provided that Mussolini should be the sole judge of such actions.

Preparations Continued

Italy forged ahead in its preparations for hostilities in East Africa, ten steamers loading at Naples for immediate sailing, but with the rainy season persisting in Ethiopia, most diplomats believed war would not start before October 10.

The League of Nations still awaited Mussolini's decision on its five-power committee's proposal for development of Ethiopia as a basis for negotiations for East African peace.

League statesmen held little hope that Il Duce's answer would be conciliatory, in view of the great gap between the proposal and Italy's demands in East Africa.

A meeting of the Italian cabinet was called for Saturday from which a decided stand was foreseen.

A survey of European financial circles showed that private financial sanctions already have been virtually applied against Italy.

A Paris authority said French pockets were empty to foreign borrowers, especially if money was wanted for war. British financial authorities said England had closed its money chests to Italy, and similar word came from other capitals of Europe.

Ready To Go Ahead

An Italian government spokesman asserted, however, that Italy was ready to go ahead with its African campaign "without economic help from anyone."

Italy's north African possession of Libya became another point of concern in the eyes of British circles.

They said reports from Rome indicated a massing of Italian troops and munitions in Libya, near Great Britain's Egyptian interests.

Rome observers believed that the quick reappearance in Italian ports of steamers which had ostensibly sailed for East Africa indicated that they had gone instead to Libya, strengthening a general belief that extraordinary troop concentrations were taking place there.

The stock exchange in London was nervous in continuance of Thursday's flurry, arising from continental uneasiness over the Italo-Ethiopian situation.

The exchange market was sensitive to continental operations, centering momentarily on buying of dollars in connection with shipments of gold to the United States, believed to represent fugitive capital.

In Addis Ababa, Emperor Haile Selassie turned from more serious concern to be host to nearly 100 American correspondents and cameramen at a banquet in the imperial palace.

The linenfold panel decoration of the late Gothic period was common in north Europe and England.

COLLEGE ENROLLS LARGER NUMBER

Figures Have Passed 400 Mark; Many Receive Government Aid

Registration of sophomores at Northeast Center of Louisiana State university, which closes officially Friday, has brought the total registration at the school up to more than 400, Dean C. C. Colvert said Friday. Still others are expected to register on Saturday. Any who enroll Monday will be required to pay a small fee as penalty for lateness in enrolling. Figures of last year have already been exceeded, Dean Colvert declared.

Many students have applied for federal financial assistance, which will consist of $10 to $15 a month throughout the school year, payment requiring that the students perform certain duties at the college at the rate of 30 cents per hour.

In many cases students have received their allotment from the government but a number are still waiting to hear from their applications, Dean Colvert said.

Mars On A Spree

That vast rumbling that now resounds throughout the world is not thunder; it is Mars chuckling over the indifference of a civilized globe. Here is the spectacle of battle fleets being rushed to the Mediterranean sea and the Suez canal, of hundreds of thousands of troops pouring into Africa, of increased armaments on every hand, of frenzied plotting by a dozen nations seeking to obtain allies in the event of war—and yet there is not a thing that is being done about it.

Oh, yes, there was a futile meeting of several powers in Paris at which the envoys of that madman of Europe, Benito Mussolini, openly laughed at Great Britain and France; there was a weak and inconsequential parley in Geneva in which delegates spent most of their time feathering the nests of the countries which they represented, rather than attempting to come forward openly and tell Il Duce where to get off, and there were delightful and charming little notes sent willynilly to anyone who would receive them, and that was all.

America has come forward with a strong neutrality law which states that we shall abstain in any form. Not so Great Britain, not so France, or Germany or any other country in the "war zone." The wily diplomats of those nations know that war is expected and are doing their best, not to forestall it, but to meet the emergencies that are expected to rise and face them.

America has been the butt of many jokes regarding her diplomatic envoys. The Europeans laughed at Woodrow Wilson during his peace negotiations in Europe. They smiled upon the efforts of more recent ambassadors and delegates, saying to themselves: "What children they send over here; we shall have to show them a thing or two."

But in the end what good is all their diplomatic connivance when only the cemeteries will reap the harvest? Who do they think they are outsmarting—Mussolini, Hitler? What is the good of having treaties, of putting on an international false face, of bending low with the hand solemnly pressed over the heart, while guns move into position and battleships steam ominously toward the danger area?

If the guns of Mussolini bark against Ethiopia, guns will bark against other countries and soon the same dreadful business of 1914 will again be in full swing.

It is indeed a strange and dismaying quality that nationalism has injected into our bloodstreams. It would seem that, as we move near to the reeking pit, we grow inarticulate, hesitant, lifeless. It would seem that we have dropped all essence of courage, forgotten all the fine and beautiful things we once promised ourselves in a day not so far off when a weary world was licking its wounds.

Let us look upon this mad venture with more than curiosity. Let us regard the vicious intentions of Mussolini and Hitler with a spirit that is at once removed from "diplomatic watchfulness." The time for words has passed. We need a stiffening of the backbone, we need a greater courage than we ever possessed before. Because, we in America must stand as a bulwark against a frenzied Europe, that has, somehow and mysteriously, been overshadowed by a sinister and treacherous war cloud.

We Hope He Reads It

Musing upon the bucolic surroundings of Farmer Roosevelt at Hyde Park, the New York Times observes that "the Old Farmers' Almanac hangs by a string from a nail on the kitchen wall." It is the most cheering news of recent weeks, surpassing even the promise of a breathing spell. For no man is utterly abandoned to evil courses or even to economic nostrums who keeps the Old Farmers' Almanac hanging by a string from a nail on the kitchen wall and searches its pages for good counsel.

It is the true compendium of New England common sense, and those homely observations upon sound husbandry which have brightened its tissues year after year since 1793 are as true today as when Washington was president. What is the Old Farmers' Almanac's recipe for a feast of fat things? With precept upon precept, line upon line; here a little and there a little, the Almanac harps today, as it always has harped, upon the dignity of conscientious labor, the fruits of thrift, the evils of disorder and waste, the importance of mastering one's job.

Throughout the country you can almost pick out those farms where the Almanac hangs by the chimney side, dog-eared with much handling. The orchards are pruned, the fences are in repair, the barns are painted, there are flowers in the front-door yard. From all that we hear the farm at Hyde Park shows that fine grooming, that heaping up of harvests which inevitably follow a practical application of the principles inculcated by the Almanac.

Negligent Homicide

California's law-makers tightened up the state's traffic code during the last summer, and in the course of their deliberations invented a new crime—negligent homicide.

This classification was set up to apply to motor accidents in which loss of life was caused, but in which the culpability of the offending driver was not quite grievous enough to justify a charge so heavy as manslaughter.

By creating this new and lighter charge, the California authorities believe that prosecution will be made much easier in certain types of cases.

The idea might be worth copying. There are many cases in which a driver's negligence costs a life, but in which a jury is reluctant to convict of manslaughter.

"Negligent homicide" might make enforcement of the traffic code more certain—and, thereby, help to make the highways safer.

Il Duce intimates that the Almighty is on his side. However, Ethiopia need not despair. William Hohenzollern felt the same way about it but lived to learn that he was in error.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

PREJUDICE IS DYING

When I was a small child living in a little town in California, I used to go down to the center of the town and watch and listen to a devoted little family who constituted the Salvation Army there.

The army consisted of the father, the mother and two boys. The younger of the boys afterward became a celebrated sports writer, and later still a nationally known story writer.

This family had a hard time in spreading a faith in which they eagerly and firmly believed.

It was an old mining town, but there was nothing left to mine. And at that time it was gradually decreasing in population. Mountaineers, coming down from the not far distant Sierras brought their families now and then. Some other excitement—before the Salvationists—was supplied by walking around the levees of an evening or listening to a band that practiced now and then in the street.

But the chief evening occupation was the baiting of the earnest Salvationists by drunken hoodlums.

The town had a policeman—called a marshal—but he made little effort to keep order, so that almost every rowdy in the place was permitted to hoot at the worshippers in the square, and throw small missles at them, although to be fair, I never saw one of them hurt.

I never understood why this persecution should exist. To my mind these people were Christians, like any others. Why they should be shouted at and badgered was beyond my young reason to figure out.

Years later I visited the old town, and met many of the people I had known when I was a child. As I was walking up Main street one evening I heard the pompom of a brass drum and the tinkle of tamobourines, and went down to see what had called them forth.

There were the same Salvationists, older now, of course, halting their parade at the end of the street, and then quietly breaking up and moving away.

"Don't you pester these people any more?" I asked my companion, a native.

"We don't," he replied.

"Why?"

"We're civilized, that's all. We haven't changed our own religions, but we let anybody else on the street or elsewhere, worship as they choose."

So have other peoples of other sects. Years and blood were required to give complete freedom of religion to peoples, east and west. But it is here at last. And here it will stay. This has become really a free country, and I am convinced will remain so forever.

A monument has been erected to the memory of an anti-Semite in Germany. It shows a man sitting on a toad and beating its head with a hammer. The idea is so beautiful that it surely must have come from the thoughtful head of Mr. Hitler himself.

Governor Talmadge of Georgia, must have acquired the chain letter habit. Listing six possibilities for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1936, he places his own name at the bottom. The demise of Huey Long puts him in fifth place.

It isn't hard to maintain a spirit of humility if you first demonstrate your ability to lick those who take advantage of it.

Noting a reference to seven league boots, it seems to us that Genova statesmen have made more than that.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON.—The shooting of Huey Long is expected to result in much more elaborate protection being forced on President Roosevelt by the secret service, whether the president likes it or not.

Present protection, officials say privately, is excellent against cranks, and has proved satisfactory for the most part because as a rule that sort of danger to presidents comes only from cranks. The man who killed Huey Long may have developed a persecution mania, but he is not classified as a crank under the standards considered when officials are protected.

As a matter of fact, while no secret service official would say this publicly, they do not believe the shooting could have happened—that way—if secret service operatives had been on the job instead of Senator Long's bodyguard. Had the assassin been an excellent shot, and fired from some distance, it might have happened, but he could not have walked up and fired his pistol at such short range that Long himself was able to reach the weapon.

Had Baton Rouge been Rome, and had Long been Mussolini, the attacker could not have been in the chamber through which Long was passing. It would have been impossible. In fact, best judgment of our own officials, who have studied Mussolini's protective service, believe that he could be killed only by a rifle fired from a considerable distance.

This writer attended a session of the Italian senate, back in 1927, which Mussolini attended. The writer rode to the building in an American embassy car, with the late Warren Delano Robbins, then counselor of the embassy, and later minister to Canada.

Although the embassy shield was on the door of the rather distinctive car, guards about the senate entrance were not only nervous but impatient when the chauffeur attempted to stop.

The first consideration of Mussolini's guardians was that this street must be kept open. No chance for the first car to start a block was tolerated. So even an embassy car, driving up to the normal entrance to the diplomatic gallery of the senate, was not permitted even to pause. Shouted directions, more or less menacing, kept it moving. It turned down another street, circled, and came up to the building on the other side.

Thus we traversed three streets leading to the chamber. Every one of them was lined with soldiers, police and men so obviously plain clothes operatives that the most inexperienced of crooks would have recognized them for what they were.

Moreover, on the roofs of the houses lining these three streets, men were on guard. It is an old Latin custom. It goes back through the ages. An it is very effective.

The writer saw the same sort of precaution when President Coolidge visited Havana, in January, 1928, for the opening of the first Pan-American conference. President Machado was having his troubles, even then—he had closed the university. He wanted no untoward incident. None occurred. It is of interest that when Machado realized the jig was up he escaped not only with his life, but, according to reports, with a good deal else.

No one knows precisely when Mussolini will be anywhere. No one knows where he will sleep any particular night. But a few minutes in advance of any given movement the elaborate guard is thrown out, a searching investigation is made of the buildings, streets and roads he will enter, and Il Duce's guardians assure themselves that no one not known to be friendly can even get close to him.

Commander Van Zandt is completing his second consecutive term as V. F. W. chieftain, and with his renomination without opposition became the first veteran to be so honored for three consecutive years.

As a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Van Zandt has served as commander of the James L. Noble post No. 3 in Altoona, two consecutive terms as department commander of Pennsylvania, national chief of staff in 1930-31, and junior vice-commander-in-chief, 1931-32.

Advances In Rank

In 1932 he was advanced to the senior vice-commandership and the following year at the national encampment in Milwaukee was elected commander-in-chief, being re-named to that post the following year at the Louisville encampment.

Kearney, slated for re-election to the senior vice-commandership, was first named to that post a year ago. His rise in the organization has been rapid, his membership dating back only four years.

Also slated for re-election was R. B. Handy, Jr., of Kansas City, Mo., as quartermaster general, a position he has filled since 1923. For the past eight years Handy has also served as encampment adjutant, an appointive post.

Open Contest In Offing

A wide open contest is in the offing for the junior vice-commandership, now held by Joseph Hanken of Revere, Mass. It was understood he will not be a candidate for re-election. Prominently mentioned as his successor were Scott P. Squyers, Oklahoma City, present national chief of staff, and A. W. Hamilton, department commander of South Carolina.

Mrs. Winifred Toussaint of Jersey City, N. J., was assured of re-election as national president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, she was without opposition.

Other Offices To Be Filled

Other offices to be filled by the veterans before they conclude their encampment tonight were those of chaplain, surgeon and judge advocate general.

Balloting and selection of next year's encampment city were scheduled as the final business of the encampment. The Denver and New York City delegations were making strong bids for the 1936 convention, with Detroit another possibility.

The convention late yesterday adopted a resolution asking for a congressional investigation of the death of 300 war veterans in the recent hurricane on the lower Florida keys.

Resolution Voted Down

Another resolution, seeking to place the blame on President Roosevelt for vetoing the bonus, thereby causing the veterans to be sent to the keys to work, was quickly voted down after spirited discussion.

The deaths were discussed by Ira Harper, Florida department commander.

"Evident attempts to whitewash the whole thing, together with so many conflicting reports, have made it difficult to arrive at the true facts," he said.

He said the cremation of the dead veterans was ordered by health authorities "only as a last resort," since embalming and shipping of the bodies was "out of the question."

Criticism Is Voiced

John J. Skillman, member of the V. F. W. national council of administration, who was sent into the area to investigate, criticized authorities for keeping the men in the storm area despite warnings of its approach for several days.

Himself an undertaker, Skillman said the cremation was not necessary and declared "funeral directors were willing to risk their own lives to go in there and give those boys a decent burial."

Commander Van Zandt said the adoption of a resolution for cash payment of the bonus was an endorsement of the Steiwer-Byrnes bill.

He said the V. F. W. supported that bill after the Patman bill was vetoed. He said the Steiwer-Byrnes bill "is absolutely certain of enactment at the coming session of congress."

National Committeeman May Be Chosen Shortly

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Democratic state central committee of Louisiana may choose a new chairman and national committeeman to succeed the late Huey P. Long at a special meeting at Baton Rouge on October 1.

The committee will also set January 21, 1936, as the date for the state election.

Long completely dominated the committee after his election as governor in 1928 and changed the old system of naming national convention delegates by state convention, substituting a plan under which they were named by the committee.

His delegations were challenged at both the 1928 and 1932 national conventions, but were seated after battles with rival delegations.

IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK.—Meanderings: Remedy for a lousy headache, prescribed by old Dr. Harpo Marx—two aspirin tablets and a teaspoonful of insect powder.

Clothes make all the difference in the uppity Rainbow Room. Beatrice Lillie, who is Lady Peel, and who also entertained there all last season, was turned away the other night because she wasn't in evening dress . . . Bird's-eye views: Ben Bernie's gray head; Gladys Parker's pink locks; young James Roosevelt's barren pate.

Booking agents trying to sign choruses for Panama and South American cabarets are finding prospects shy, and I don't mean scarce . . . John Barrymore has furniture on his mind. First, with Elaine Barrie, he shopped for some; now he's going into a play called "A Room in Red and White" . . . Next to talking with celebrities, singing seems to be fun. At Bill's Gay Nineties, one of those too awfully atmospheric spots, I saw—and heard—dozens of customers helping William Gaxton, Victor Moore and Mary Boland with "Sweet Adeline."

Street scene: Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur pitching quarters at a crack in the sidewalk before the Hippodrome, where the super-hyper spectacle "Jumbo" is supposed to be rehearsing. Jimmy Durante joins them and the rehearsal waits. Billy Rose, who is only the producer, stands by and fumes. Finally, in desperation, he pitches too, wins every time, breaks the game, and drives them inside. "Loco boy makes good!" jeers Mr. Hecht.

Nothing in a name, maybe, but Peggy Joyce seems attracted by a flicker fellow yclept Lew Diamond . . . Who was it said Irving Berlin was washed up—Listen to his tunes in "Top Hat" . . . London-bound: Helen Hayes, Frederic March, Douglas Montgomery and Merle Oberon, the latter pausing in mid-gangplank to blow kisses . . . There'll be a Gulnan night club in Hollywood conducted by Tommy . . . Tallulah Bankhead is reading play scripts, searching for a Broadway vehicle. Why she isn't besieged with movie offers is one of my favorite mysteries . . . Earl Carroll looks less like a Broadwayman than almost anybody I know. And he should sue his tailor. But the frequently glorified Beryl Wallace, usually to be seen with him of an evening, compensates for his lack of glamor . . . Remember David Warfield? The great actor is 79 now, rich, retired. Lives near Central Park, and usually can be found strolling there of a sunny morning.

Poor Sally Rand!—she has to decide whether to keep her bubbles and fans and the very substantial security they offer, or toss them to the winds and risk making only a bare living as a legitimate actress. Maybe I'm mixing my terms a little—if she tosses away her bubbles Sally will don voluminous costumes, perhaps those of "Mary of Scotland." She already is accustomed to wearing a wig, and probably could get used to a dress with a little practice . . .

Puzzles

Show-business specializes in make-believe rightfully enough but I'm not quite clear about just where an ex-Tex Guinan girl—such as, for example, Yvonne Bouvier—gets a French accent that is almost unintelligible. Or how a strip-dancer—such as Trudy De Ring—who appeared in three latespots last year, can be seriously billed as a "Javanese dancer making first appearance in America." No wonder they call it Fraudway.

Handsome Paul Draper, with the stuttering feet, may be the next Astaire of the stage and films. But before he utters a word in front of an audience he'll have to cure a strange shyness that manifests itself in vocal stuttering . . . Visiting the Winter Garden with his wife the other evening, John Jacob Astor 3rd extinguished a cigar he was smoking, wrapped it in a handkerchief and pocketed it. At intermission he produced the little bundle, took out the cigar and lighted up. Finished it that time.

AAA representative in charge of sugar, for a ruling on the question, but that the request had not yet been made.

Congressman Numa P. Montet of the third Louisiana district said last night that Voorhies had been informed by Porterie that the act "applied to the AAA" but did not apply to contracts entered into prior to October 1, 1935, the date the act becomes effective.

Porterie said he had ruled upon a request by Voorhies for information whether "delayed sugar contracts" entered into prior to October 1 would be affected.

He said he had held they would not since the federal constitution forbids impairment of existing contracts.

"The only question submitted to me," Porterie said, "was a matter of delayed sugar contracts, and whether act 21 was involved, or affected the much-delayed payments to sugar growers for their 1934 crops.

'Nothing To Consider'

"Our opinion was that since act 21 does not become effective until October 1, 1935, there was nothing to consider because there is a provision of the federal constitution against impairment of existing contracts.

"Consequently the prior contracts stand as if the act had not been written."

Porterie said he expected to be asked for a ruling on the general status of the AAA with regard to the act.

"By whom?" he was asked.

"I presume by the same Mr. Voorhies," he replied.

The text of the opinion Porterie said he transmitted to Voorhies follows:

"Mr. Marcel J. Voorhies,
"Agricultural Adjustment Administration,
"Baton Rouge, La.
"Dear Sir:

"Replying to your request relative to the effect of the provisions of house bill No. 21 just enacted by the legislature of Louisiana, you are advised that, in our opinion, the provisions of said house bill No. 21 do not extend to any sugar cane production adjustment contract entered into under the agricultural adjustment act prior to twelve o'clock noon of October 1, 1935, the time that said houes bill No. 21 will take effect as law.

Constitution Is Cited

"The tenth amendment to the constitution reserves to the state of Louisiana all powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states. Section 10 of article I of the constitution of the United States provides that no state shall pass any law impairing the obligation of contract.

"This is an outright prohibition to the states. Section 15 of article IV of the constitution of Louisiana also prohibits the legislature from passing any law impairing the obligations of contracts or divesting vested rights. Therefore the state of Louisiana would have no authority to pass any law that would impair the obligation of any contract entered into prior to the effective date of such law.

"Very truly yours,
"GASTON L. PORTERIE,
"Attorney-General."

Congressman Montet Issues Statement

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—(AP)—One of the last laws dictated by the assassinated Huey P. Long in his fight against President Roosevelt may cost Louisiana farmers millions of dollars in federal benefit payments.

Congressman Numa Montet said one of the statutes passed at the recent special session of the legislature would probably prevent farmers from signing agricultural adjustment administration contracts involving benefit payments of between $15,000,000 and $18,000,000.

The act, which becomes effective October 1, prohibits any agent of the federal government from expending money in Louisiana in "violation" of the federal constitution. The law is being studied for its effect upon the contracts by the agricultural adjustment administration at Washington, Montet said.

Opinion Is Issued

An opinion was issued by Attorney General Gaston L. Porterie, Montet said, to Marcel Voorhies, representative of the AAA, holding that under the law, AAA contracts could not be signed after October 1.

The act was the last legislative thrust by Senator Huey P. Long at the national administration before he was mortally wounded by an assassin's bullet.

During 1935, benefit payments by the AAA to sugar, rice and cotton farmers totaled $17,300,000, B. B. Jones, agricultural secretary of the New Orleans Association of Commerce, said.

Text Of Statement

Montet's statement follows:

"The recent session of the legislature just adjourned adopted an act generally known as house bill No. 21, which provides that no officer, agent or employe of the United States shall expend any public funds appropriated or made available by the congress in the exercise or attempted exercise of any power not specifically delegated to the United States by the constitution of the United States.

"This act was signed by the governor.

"There has been called to my attention an opinion rendered by the attorney-general of the state of Louisiana to Marcel Voorhies, representative of the AAA in charge of sugar and syrup in Louisiana. It is the opinion of the attorney-general that the act applies to the AAA, and I am informed that his opinion states that it does not affect contracts signed and in existence prior to October 1, 1935, but that it does apply to all departments after October 1, 1935.

Interprets Ruling

"This means that no new contracts affecting sugar, syrup, rice or cotton can be signed and executed after October 1, 1935. Sugar cane, rice, cotton, corn and hog farmers, therefore, will not be able to enter into any 1936 benefit payment contracts with the United States government.

"As a result of this act there can be no syrup program at all, and no 1936 cane contracts. This act forecloses the syrup program which is about to be had.

"Millions of dollars of benefit payments that farmers of Louisiana would have received through the AAA have been taken from them by this act, to say nothing of the effect it may have on the millions for relief through the WPA.

"Unless something is done quickly the entire farmers' program in Louisiana and the millions that have been set aside for the farmers of Louisiana will not come into this state.

Urges Farmers To Act

"The farmers of Louisiana, whether sugar, cotton, rice, corn, hog and other agricultural products, who ore entitled to benefit payments, should immediately get in touch with their legislators who voted for this bill to deprive them of their money, and insist that it be repealed immediately so that they can get what is theirs. They have a right to share in the wealth of this nation and to share it right now!

"Three is no reason why farmers in other states should have these benefits and have Louisiana taxed to help pay the farmers outside of this state and we not get our portion of this wealth. The Louisiana legislature and its members must be made to realize that the farmers' welfare comes first.

"I have been informed that due to the act and the opinion of the attorney-general, the AAA in Washington, which has received the opinion from Mr. Porterie's office, will stop making benefit payment contracts in this state.

"I am leaving tonight for Washington in an effort to see what can be done to protect the interests of our people."

AVIATORS FREED OF CHARGES IN KOENECKE DEATH

the Brooklyn outfielder was "in a second class of intoxication, when violence might appear."

Witnesses Testify

Police officials and residents of the surburbs near Long Branch race track where Mulqueeney brought down his ship in a forced landing after the fight, told of the aviator's conversation after alighting and of how the ship was seen flying before the pilot chanced a descent.

Both airmen, granted immunity by the court, told again the details of Koenecke's attack, their efforts to keep the plane from crashing, and of the fight in which the baseball player was struck down with a fire extinguisher.

After hearing evidence for four and a half hours, the jury retired for about 20 minutes and brought in this brief verdict:

"We, the members of the jury, find the deceased came to his death in an airplane on Sept. 17 from injuries sustained from blows from a fire extinguisher in the hands of William J. Mulqueeney and Irwin Davis in self defense."

On the door of Barrymore's compartment hung a "Do Not Disturb" sign. Husky bodyguards ushered the visitors from the train. Harry Hotchner, the actor's manager, reiterated a statement made when Barrymore left New York:

"Mr. Barrymore doesn't want to be made fun of any more."

When the train pulled out into the yards, Barrymore was still aboard. When it stopped at 16th street for servicing he was not. The porter of his Pullman car explained that the actor had got out between the two points.

"Mistah Barrymore was in a powerful hurry," the porter said sadly. "In fact he forgot all about me."

New Books Discussed At Review Club Meet

Life Of Sam Houston, Trends Of Modern Decade Furnish Subjects

A perfect autumnal day filled with glorious sunshine was enjoyed by members of the Review club, who were welcomed in a hospitable manner, reminiscent of the old south, in the beautiful gardens of Mrs. T. C. Rowland's country home Monday afternoon.

Mrs. C. C. Colvert, the new president, presided during the program hour and Mrs. E. R. Strahan took over her duties as secretary-treasurer at this time. Mrs. L. G. Wilkerson sent in her resignation as member of the club and Mrs. Norman Coon, who was a temporary member last year, automatically was named in her place. It was voted to hold club meetings in the homes of different members this year.

Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy and his headquarters, which have been enriched by art objects and furniture left to him by the late Mrs. Henrietta Wurz of Philadelphia, Pa., were the subject of a current topic chosen by Mrs. A. R. Holloway. The remodeling of the wing in Mussolini's Palazzo Venezia has been completed but it has not yet been thrown open to the public. Mrs. Holloway also spoke on "Marriage vs. A Career," giving the solution of the problem as explained by Lucy Jenkins Franklin, dean of women at Boston university and a wife and mother.

Mrs. Fred Fudickar was the leader of the program and her subject "America in History and Biography" was delightfully portrayed in the books reviewed. "The Raven," by Marquis James, discussed by Mrs. Fudickar, presented an interesting account of the life and times of General Sam Houston. It contains material never given to the public before. It is written mostly from quotations from letters and diaries. When a boy of thirteen, General Houston ran away from home and lived with the Indians. This gave him the knowledge and friendship with them that he used later on in life, when Andrew Jackson gave him commissions to the Indians.

At one time he married Tiana Rogers, a member of the Cherokee nation, and a distant relative of Will Rogers. Her ancestor was a Scotchman named Rogers. Later he was unhappily married to Elizabeth Allen and after a few months he left her, returning to live with the Indians. He joined the army, fighting in the Battle of New Orleans in the War of 1812 and in war with Mexico when Texas gained her independence. He studied law and was once governor of Tennessee. The aim of the book is to make Houston a national, instead of a sectional, figure. He appeared in Washington once dressed in beads and moccasins and other Indian attire and created quite a hullabaloo by his actions while there. He was seriously wounded at the battle of San Jacinto and taken on a boat to New Orleans, from which place he was invited to return to Texas and become the first president of that new republic, which office he accepted.

Mrs. Walter Rhodes reviewed "Only Yesterday," by Frederick Lewis Allen, a magazine editor born in Boston. This book is a story of the 1920's from the morning of the Armistice through the long and noisy decade to the more sober days of 1931. Some of the chapters are "America Convalescent," "Revolution in Manners," "Harding and the Scandals," "Coolidge Prosperity," "The Ballyhoo Years," "Revolt of the Highbrows," "Alcohol and Al Capone," "Home Sweet Florida," "The Big Bull Market," "Crash, and Aftermath, 1930-1931."

The twenties didn't even hesitate—just fanned along, the dizzy decade. Things arrived, things went, things changed. Mr. William Jennings Bryan met Mr. Darrow in debate, and died soon after. Tunney whipped Dempsey and refused to harm William Lyon Phelps. Lindy flew single-handed to Paris and double to Maine. Gin became the nation's favorite "gigglewater," and the younger generation parked its corsets at home and its roadsters on the side of the road. Skirts went up with the stocks, hair and manners were cropped together. Such events at first seem unbelievable, then as you read on you remember and know they really happened. One reviewer has said, "You will not only find Allen's 'Only Yesterday' different but far fresher, more vivid and better organized, more comprehensive and better balanced in selection of material and more bolder and accurate in its efforts to record the truth."

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Joseph Biedenharn.

The following members were present to enjoy the meeting: Mesdames C. C. Colvert, E. P. Cudd, E. C. McGee, C. B. Braun, Reese Major, Sr., Henry Colbert, B. W. Leigh, T. C. Rowland, E. R. Strahan, C. V. McGimsey, A. R. Holloway, Walter Rhodes, Fred Fudickar, E. R. Yancey, Joseph Biedenharn, Chester Nenny, Ben Breard, S. A. Collins and J. W. Worthington.

Mr. and Mrs. Tip Schier, who occupied the Sydney Moore home during the summer months, are now established with Mrs. J. B. Clawson on North Third street. Their daughter, Miss Jean Schier, left the first of the week for Baton Rouge, where she will attend the state university this year.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Metcalf have returned from a most delightful automobile trip to Canada, where they were pleasantly entertained by relatives. Many places of interest were visited en route.

Jane Withers, a close rival in popularity to Shirley Temple among movie fans, is starring in "Ginger," now showing at the Paramount theater. The motion picture council of the National Board of Review, classifies it as one of the best pictures of the year and a picture that will be heartily enjoyed by every member of the family.

It is only in the last few months that studio executives have begun to realize what a really big bet they have held in Jane Withers. Box office figures and fan mail on her first starring in "Ginger" have been rolling in and causing a furor around the lot.

You must see this picture by all means. It was written especially for her and permits this clever child actress to display her marvelous talent as a real dramatist.

The Louisiana Power and Light company, in cooperation with the school authorities, is planning to present within the next several days a program for the school children and their parents in the communities served by the power company.

The program will include an educational motion picture with sound titled "Light for Living," and a five-minute play will be presented by a cast made up of women employes of the company, entitled "Eyesight Preservation." The program will be concluded with the presentation of a comedy.

Mrs. Frederick Williamson motored Friday morning to Baton Rouge, where she will take post-graduate work in library science at the state university. She was accompanied to Baton Rouge by Mrs. Thomas Flournoy, who will enjoy a visit in the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Unglesby, and Mr. Unglesby.

Miss Hazel Mitchell returned the first of the week to Gainesville, Ga., where she will resume her studies at Brenau college.

Friends are glad indeed that Miss Ann Platt, popular member of the younger set, will be at home this winter. She will be a member of the Ouachita parish grammar school faculty.

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Rowe completed a visit with relatives in West Monroe and returned to their home in Detroit, Mich., accompanied by their neice, Mrs. Fay Burdeaux, and two children, Fay, Jr., and Dolly Jo, who will enjoy a visit of several weeks in their home.

Misses Dorothy and Johnnie King, who have been spending the summer with their father in Fort Necessity, will make their home this winter with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carey Holmes of West Monroe.

Mrs. William Gladney and two young sons of Bastrop, en route from Colorado Springs, where they spent the entire summer, were guests the first of the week of Mrs. Gladney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Washburn.

Mrs. L. E. Hall of New Orleans was the guest this week of her daughter, Miss Clara Hall, director of music of the city school system.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Crouch are receiving the congratulations of friends over the arrival of their first child, a daughter, at Riverside sanitarium on the eighteenth of September. Mrs. Crouch's mother, Mrs. W. P. Allen of Shreveport, is in the city to welcome her new granddaughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Smelser, bride and groom of recent date, are now at home to their friends with Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Helm on Pine street.

Friends of Mrs. H. C. Kihneman, Jr., will regret to learn that she is seriously ill in Highland sanitarium, Shreveport.

ENEMY'S KISS

by Evelyn M. Winch

SYNOPSIS: Alison Rede has come from school in Switzerland to meet her father at a house outside London he is supposed to have taken. But while washing up by the light of her pocket torch she is horrified by a hairless head which peers round the bathroom door; now she has run downstairs and been intercepted by a rather handsome young man who will not let her go until she explains what she is doing in what should be a deserted house.

Chapter Three

EXPLANATION

ALISON hesitated. There was a ring of authority in the man's voice. In his old tweed coat, baggy flannels, with no hat, he had not looked like a burglar, but still— She tried to push his arm away but it held her the more firmly.

"Come on now!"

She yielded.

"I—I was upstairs in the bathroom, and—and something tried to come in."

"Something? What do you mean?" Incredulously.

"I don't know. A dreadful-looking sort of man. Horrible, like a ghost. I was frightened and—"

"Are you alone here, then?" He sounded more astonished.

"Yes."

The instant she had said it, she realized that it would have been better to pretend that there were servants in the house, sleeping. But now it was too late. He gave a faint whistle.

"This is your house?"

"I don't know," she admitted. "I suppose so. . . ."

"You don't know?" On the whole, his astonishment was justified. She heard him grope for the switch, heard it click uselessly. The lantern glimmered again as he asked, "Where's the main switch?"

"I don't know. I've never been in the place before." He was looking at her with such disbelief that she went on quickly, "I came here to meet my father. You see, I had a wire from him to come here and wait until he came. And now he hasn't come—" her voice trailed off lamely, "and I don't know what's happened!" That ended in a slight gulp.

"There! Don't!" He had let her go now, was patting her arm comfortingly.

"I'm not!" said Alison. A manifest lie.

BY way of answer, he extracted a large, and clean silk handkerchief and handed it to her. She took it gratefully. Her own was in the bathroom in her bag. It was a minute or two before she reappeared from the handkerchief, shakily and with shiny nose, to meet two perplexed blue eyes. When he frowned like that, he looked much older and stern.

"Look here, what house is this?"

"The Croft House, Warley, isn't it?" Alison looked up with surprise. Was that the solution, she wondered? Had she got into the wrong house by mistake?

But he nodded.

"That's what I understood," he agreed. "Does it belong to your father?"

"I don't quite know. That's the queer part of it. I'd never heard of it before. But I know he was going to take a country house and his wire said the Croft House, Warley, all right. And the man at Warley in the garage seemed to know it," Alison explained confusedly. "I expect that father's just moving in—you see, he's getting married again."

"I see." The young man said that doubtfully, surveying Alison with puzzled eyes which took in her pretty face, well-cut tweed suit, good shoes and daintily-kept hands.

After a moment he added, "I was out there in the road, taking a stroll before I turned in, and I saw someone get in through this window. It struck me as not exactly—orthodox—so I followed. And the next thing I knew was you shoving your hand into my face."

He spoke so frankly, that she had to believe him; she smoothed back her thick chestnut curls, thinking, "He's nice."

The young man remarked briskly, "Look here, you wait down here. I'll have a look round for your bathroom friend."

"No!" She could not help grabbing at his arm, though she dropped it at once, ashamed. "I—I'd rather come with you."

He looked down at her trembling mouth and eyes big with fear and nodded.

"ALL right. Keep behind me, that's all. Have you a candle?"

"No. I couldn't find any."

There was a pile of old newspapers in one corner of the pantry; he took up one and rolled it tightly, twisting one end. His hands, Alison noticed, were brown, strong and very finely shaped, almost too delicate for so big a man. The lantern flared up as it caught the end of the paper.

"Now, where did you see this 'ghost'?"

"He was coming after me, downstairs."

"He hasn't passed this door."

"He must have gone that way, then, into the kitchen."

Together, by the smoky flare of the improvised torch, they explored the passage, a long straight passage with a thick, ugly carpet in a Persian pattern, which ended in a flagged kitchen on the left and a back door, with some stone steps leading to a cellar on the right.

Together, they explored the passage.

The back door was locked.

"We'll take it room by room. In ghost-hunting, one can't be too careful," said the man beside her, lightly.

He was tall, six feet or more, but did not look it, being broadly built; there was something definitely comforting about those large square shoulders as he moved ahead; but in spite of that, Alison could not help looking back nervously, starting at each sound.

"Dining room." He had flung open a door and was waving the rolled newspaper so that its light fell into each part of the room. Faded green rep curtains were looped high, an oak table, much the worse for wear, stood bleakly in the middle with eight cane-seated chairs in a row against one green-distempered wall; the whole room was visibly free of ghosts and had the barren look of an unoccupied house.

"Ah!"

"What?"

He pointed triumphantly to a stable lantern which stood on the shabby oak sideboard.

"Hold this a minute." Alison took the newspaper; after a moment's wrestling he got the lantern open and lit it. "Now we're all right." The smell of smoldering paper filled the room as he stamped the torch out in the grate.

A crash frightens Alison, tomorrow.

A bright spot on this week's social calendar is the dancing party at Lakeside Country club, Saturday night, for members and their out-of-town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Moore announce the arrival of a daughter, Claudia Belle, in their home on the twelfth of September.

If you are looking for a luscious cake that is just a little different to serve with coffee after your bridge game, afternoon or evening, here is the very thing—a marvelously flavored walnut cake with creamy, caramel frosting. It is so different you can expect delightful comments from your guests. Here is the recipe:

1-2 cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2-3 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
2 1-4 cups sifted cake flour
2 1-4 teaspoons baking powder
1-4 teaspoon salt.
3-4 cup milk.

Cream shortening, adding sugar gradually. When light and fluffy, add well-beaten eggs. When thoroughly blended, stir in nuts and orange rind; then add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, about one-third of each at a time, beating until smooth after each addition. Bake in two greased layer-cake pans in a moderately hot oven 375 deg. F.—about 25 minutes. When cold, fill and frost with caramel filling and frosting, decorating top layer with walnut halves.

For the caramel filling and frosting:

3 tablespoons butter
3 1-2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
4 tablespoons caramel syrup
3 to 4 tablespoons milk

Cream butter, adding sugar gradually. Next add caramel syrup and finally milk, a little at a time, working until of a good spreading consistency. This frosting should be allowed to stand about 20 minutes before spreading on cake. To make the caramel syrup, place two-thirds cup granulated sugar in a heavy saucepan or frying pan and melt slowly over direct heat, stirring constantly until light golden brown. Add slowly one cup boiling water, cook gently to a heavy syrupy consistency.

LOS ANGELES,—(AP)—Sheriff's deputies of Los Angeles county may receive $2.50 to $10 extra in their monthly pay checks for being crack shots. Supervisor John R. Quinn urged the plan as an incentive to improved marksmanship.

Soil Improvement Is Discussed At Meetings

WINNFIELD, La., Sept. 20.—(Special)—A series of meetings are being held in the wards of Winn parish inaugurating a parish-wide soil improvement program.

Particular emphasis is being given to discussions of soil improvement by planting winter cover crops, such as burr clover, hairy vetch and Austrian peas.

According to the Winn parish agent, one of the main purposes of the ward meetings is to get leading farmers in each of the communities to plant burr clover seed, with the two-fold purpose of raising seed and spreading the clover over the entire farm.

The meetings are being well attended and are expected to be of much value to soil improvement in this section.

An organization, known as the Winn Parish Soil Erosion association, was perfected recently.

MRS. CLARK IMPROVING

The condition of Mrs. George Clark, postmistress at Fairbanks, who recently underwent a major operation at St. Francis sanitarium, is improving, according to her physicians. She is now able to receive visits from her friends.

fountain after city officers had gone to the corner to answer an anonymous call about a man that had put in a telephone call to Philadelphia.

The man admitted his name was Harvey, Arnold said, and when informed that he would have to be held on the embezzlement charge, he readily agreed to accompany the officers.

The police said Harvey had $7,500 in money in a satchel in his automobile, $400 in cash on his person and $2,900 in travelers' checks.

Harvey was quoted by the officers as repeatedly protesting his innocence but telling them that he had made some money in stocks and bonds of legal transaction.

OUACHITA FAIR IS TO BE ADVERTISED

Good Will Trips Are Planned By West Monroe Kiwanians

Good will tours for the purpose of advertising the Ouachita Valley fair will be conducted next week Wednesday and Friday by members of the West Monroe Kiwanis club, it was decided Thursday at the weekly luncheon of the group. Fully 30 members pledged the use of their cars and a sound truck will be used on the trip, which will be made to all important cities and towns of northeast Louisiana.

George Dierlamm, manager of the fair, addressed the club membership, outlining some essential features of the show. Herman McGuire made a short talk, as did other members of the club.

It was voted to inaugurate a "pep and step" program for the purpose of imparting new life to the membership. New members will be sought and efforts will be exerted to obtain 100 per cent attendance at meetings.

During the month of November, new officers will be elected. They will take charge the first of next year.

Club singing, led by Russell Simpson, comprised the entertainment feature.

KINGSTON, N. C.—(AP)—Albert and Joe Jackson, blind mattress makers, "see" no depression. Their business, which employs 50 workers, grosses approximately $100,000 a year.

MANY PUPILS NEED SCHOOL CLOTHING

Many boys and girls of grammar and high school grades are unable to attend school because they lack sufficient clothing. This condition was revealed Friday by Captain George Whitaker of the Salvation Army, who said that in his visitations in the city he had found many cases where pupils desired to attend school but were prevented by the fact that they needed suitable clothing.

Captain Whitaker stated that many people have in their homes clothing that is discarded but which is still wearable and which could serve the purposes of keeping youngsters warm these fall days. He asks that all who will so contribute call him at the Salvation Army headquarters and a car will be sent to make collection. The army's headquarters are located at 201 Wood street.

RALLY DAY WILL BE HELD SUNDAY

First Christian Church Will Observe Religious Education Week

Religious Education week will be initiated at the First Christian church Sunday, when Rally day will be conducted. This special week is dedicated each year for the purpose of stressing to people of the community the importance of religious instruction and to encourage parental cooperation.

Plans for the new year's work, beginning October 6, will be discussed and adopted at the initial workers' conference, which will be held Monday, September 23, at 7:30 p.m. All officers and teachers of the church school will assemble for this program.

A reception for parents and teachers will be held on September 25 for the purpose of mutual understanding and acquaintance. The observance of Religious Education week will close with promotion day September 29. This year the entire school below the adult department will be reorganized by school grades instead of by age, as has been done in the past, stated the pastor, Rev. Thomas F. Jett. Special recognition will be given those being promoted.

MANY ATTEND BAND CONCERT THURSDAY

Teflis grotto band, directed by J. C. Ray, presented its first public concert here in many months Thursday night on the campus of the Central Grammar school.

There was a representative attendance and the various numbers were well received by the assemblage.

A similar concert, given at Hot Springs, Ark., at the Southwestern Grotto association's convention, last Labor day, was enthusiastically received.

The band's local plans contemplate the giving of numerous public concerts in the next few months.

NEW BAND MASTER IS COMING TO CITY

Charles Gaushell, graduate of Louisiana State university, has just been engaged by the city school board to instruct as orchestra and band director in the Neville high school and in the elementary schools of this system, it was announced Friday by E. L. Neville, superintendent.

Mr. Gaushell will take the place of Harvey Nelson, who had charge of this work here last year and who will now conduct a similar work at Louisiana Tech in Ruston. He is said to come here highly recommended.

Alexandrian New Editor Of L. S. U.'s Reveille

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Jerry T. Baulch, of Alexandria, La., has been appointed editor and general manager of the Reveille, Louisiana State university semi-weekly publication.

H. A. Reeves of Elmsford, N. Y., has been named editor of the publication's Friday issue, and Wilbur Carnes of Bunkie editor of the Tuesday issue.

ACCEPTED by Science and the American People

Laboratories have devoted years of research to discover the facts about bran. These tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a natural laxative food for normal people.

As a result, ALL-BRAN has been accepted by the American Medical Association Committee on Foods, and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute.

Millions of Americans use ALL-BRAN to correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. For ALL-BRAN supplies generous, mild "bulk," which continues to be effective when used for months. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

How much better than taking patent medicines! Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HOMER SPONSORS BIG DAIRY SHOW

Annual Event To Be Staged In Claiborne Parish October 15, 16

HOMER, La., Sept. 20.—(Special)—A Claiborne parish dairy show will be held in Homer October 15 and 16, sponsored by the Lions club and business men here. This is an annual affair, and a larger number of Jersey cows will be displayed than last year. The winners will be sent to the state fair at Shreveport.

C. H. Staples, head of the dairying department of L. S. U., will judge the cattle, and E. W. Neasham, extension dairyman, will judge the contests on dairy demonstrations. Both cattle and dairy demonstrations will be a feature of the show.

A catalogue and premium list has been prepared at the county agent's office here, and blanks for enrollment of cattle entered are to be left at this office. This show will be a demonstration of the better bred cattle in the parish and to demonstrate the practicability of raising better cattle.

STORY HOUR IS NOW HELD ON SATURDAY

The children's story hour, which has been conducted at the Monroe public library on Thursday morning for the past few months will be changed, beginning tomorrow, to Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The change in the date for the holding of the hour was made because schools are now in session.

New features are planned from time to time in order to make this hour both entertaining and instructive.

The Legion auxiliary is sponsor of the hour.

AT LOCAL THEATERS

AT THE PARAMOUNT — Jane Withers, the kid who imitated a machine gun, told tales on Shirley Temple, tried to run her down with a doll carriage and proved herself a complete annoyance in "Bright Eyes," has the title role in Fox Film's latest comedy success, "Ginger," which plays for the last times today at the Paramount theater.

Little Miss Withers sets a new style in comedy entertainment in "Ginger," which kept Hollywood and New York preview audiences in continual guffaws and caused the prediction that the film is a great beginning for what looks like a great career.

Little Jane registers a million dollars worth of personality and talent in her new picture and Paramount theater audiences are assured that they will love her as much in this story as they hated her in "Bright Eyes."

When Jane, the little, independent, self-reliant product of Ninth avenue, is taken into the Park avenue home of the pampered Jackie Searl, there's a swell clash with a world of comedy. O. P. Heggie gives an outstanding performance as Jane's foster-uncle and Katherine Alexander and Walter King provide an unusual romance as Jackie Searl's parents.

The film was produced by Sol M. Wurtzel and directed by Lewis Seiler.

AT THE CAPITOL.—A little cupid who picks her spots to shoot her darts best describes Shirley Temple's portrayal in "Curly Top," the new Fox Film comedy-drama with music which closes its engagement today at the Capitol theater.

Shirley has the role of a little orphan who wins her way into the heart of John Boles, a wealthy trustee of the orphanage.

At the large summer mansion which Boles owns, Shirley enacts the role of cupid to perfection. Rochelle Hudson, believing Boles is not interested in her, decides to marry someone else, but Shirley, who knows differently, employs her childish charms to bring the two together.

Playing the role of cupid, however, does not in the least prevent Shirley from singing and dancing. "Curly Top" presents Shirley with intricate dance routine and two new songs, "Animal Crackers in My Soup" and "When I Grow Up."

John Boles and Rochelle Hudson also do their share of singing in "Curly Top."

'BUDDY CLUB' TALKED AT ROTARY MEETING

Activities of "The Buddy club," an organization of underprivileged boys between the ages of eight and twelve years, sponsored by the Monroe Rotary club, was discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Rotary club and favorable committee reports on work being done in the Buddy club were given.

Promoting the Buddy club is one of the Rotary club's major objectives of the year and recently they gave the 50-odd youths in the new organization a week's encampment at Camp Ki-Ro-Li.

Entertainment at the meeting was given by Miss Golda Roane, who gave tap dancing numbers.

WEST MONROE TAXICAB DRIVERS ARE ARRESTED

Four West Monroe taxi drivers were arrested by Monroe police yesterday on charges of operating taxicabs in the city of Monroe without permits from the chief of police.

The men arrested were L. D. Howard, Grayson Wilks, Charles Godwin and G. D. Kelly. Wilks, Godwin and Kelly were released after posting $50 property bonds each, while Howard was released on his word by Judge W. M. Harper. Their cases are expected to be heard in city court this afternoon.

STATE PLANNING HIGHWAY STRETCH

Road From Calhoun To Downsville Proposed For Improvement

The Louisiana highway commission is asking for sealed proposals for the construction of a highway from Calhoun to Downsville in Ouachita and Union parishes. It is known as route No. 201. The length of the route is given as 9.595 miles. The construction calls for grading and surfacing with "iron ore" according to specifications that are obtainable from the highway commission.

Proposals received will be opened in the offices of the commission in Baton Rouge at 9:45 a. m. on October 2.

Full information can be had of the commission at the offices in the state capitol building.

FILES DAMAGE SUIT

A personal injury suit asking judgment of $3,575 against G. B. Cooley, of the Monroe Steam laundry, was filed yesterday by Lewis Ferris, of the DeSiard road, in the office of the clerk of court of Ouachita parish. The suit was the outgrowth of an automobile accident which occurred at the intersection of Jackson and Plum streets last August 15 when a car driver by Ferris collided with a laundry truck and then crashed into a tree.

Cubs Make Grand Slam Against Eastern Clubs, Win 6 To 1

TAKE SIXTEENTH GAME IN ROW AT GIANTS' EXPENSE

Chicago Compiles Best Winning Streak In National Since 1916

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Chicago Cubs, riding on the crest of a victory wave big enough to give almost any club the jitters, must be hoping that a certain part of baseball history won't be repeated.

The Cubs extended their winning streak to 16 straight yesterday by walloping the third-place Giants, 6 to 1, to make a grand slam of their games against the four eastern clubs.

No National league team has won that many games in succession since 1916, when the Giants set the major league record of 26 straight at home and added 17 triumphs on the road. Brooklyn, not New York, won the pennant that year.

Although the Cubs have a good record for winning pennants with long streaks, there still is a good chance that this year's 16 straight won't get them the championship.

While they were ripping the Giants to pieces yesterday behind big Bill Lee, the second-place Cardinals put Dizzy Dean on the hill against Brooklyn and belted out a 9-to-1 victory to remain 2 1-2 games behind the Cubs.

The Giants, 7 1-2 games behind, still have a chance, but the prospects didn't look especially bright for New York yesterday. Lee turned in a brilliant six-hit game, not allowing a solid hit until the seventh nor a run until the eighth, while the Cubs batted out an easy victory against Carl Hubbell.

Dizzy Dean, hanging up his 27th victory, was just as effective against Brooklyn. He gave only six blows and fanned nine batters while the Cards overcame an early disadvantage.

Detroit Tigers, coasting along toward the American league flag, lost another one to Boston, 4 to 1, as a late attack headed by Roy Johnson and Babe Dahlgren broke up a mound duel between Lefty Grove and Al Crowder.

The defeat left the Bengals only 7 1-2 games ahead of the idle Yankees but needing only two victories to clinch the flag, as each club has only nine to go.

The Yanks' plan to play off a postponed doubleheader with the Athletics today faded out along with their pennant chances. This afternoon's program was left a complete blank.

With six American league clubs enjoying a day off, the Pirates and the Reds came through with yesterday's other victories. A three-run splurge in the eighth gave Pittsburgh a 7-to-6 decision over the Braves as Woody Jensen pulled off a ninth inning double play to save the game.

Paul Derringer, winning his 20th game of the season, pitched Cincinnati to a 6-to-1 triumph over the Phillies, allowing only four hits.

BAER IS IN FINE SHAPE FOR FIGHT

Examining Physician Puts Stamp Of Approval On Condition

SPECULATOR, N. Y., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The formality of placing the official stamp of approval on Max Baer, a red-hot fighter right this moment, took place Thursday in his sun-drenched training camp in the Adirondacks as the big Californian started coasting toward his battle with Joe Louis in the Yankee stadium Tuesday night.

Dr. William Walker and Brig. General John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, journeyed up here to examine Baer before the former heavyweight champion tosses a tornado of leather at Georgie Turner and Abe Feldman, his last two sparring partners, in a four-round dockwalloping workout.

"Baer is in far better shape right now than I've ever seen him before," Dr. Walker said. "His breathing is much improved. His blood pressure, extremely high for his last fight with Jimmy Braddock, is absolutely normal. His reactions are much faster. He looks in superb condition."

Phelan, to the astonishment of all, refused to be interviewed, saying merely that he thought Baer much improved mentally and physically.

After watching Max box he said "Baer looks all right."

Thursday was Baer's last heavy workout with another large crowd filling the canvas-walled arena, he made the most of it. He failed to knock anyone down, as he did when he nailed Feldman Wednesday with a left hook and right cross to the chin, but in flashes Thursday he was the gorilla-man of the ring, a wild, sledge hammer puncher, full of venom and power, grunting with every wallop.

Against Turner, a fleet, game youngster who has been a thorn in his side, Baer was particularly impressive. He came out of the crouch he has been practicing, and consistently dropped short rights clean off his shoulder onto Turner's chin, getting inside the Tulsa boy's left hooks.

A gravel road around the shooting stations will also be constructed, and a regulation 16-yard trap is to be installed.

LEAGUE LEADERS SMASH OFFERINGS OF CARL HUBELL

Eastern Club Handed Fourth Straight Defeat Of Series

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Unstoppable even by the southpaw shots of the great Carl Hubbell, the Chicago Cubs rolled onward and upward Thursday to a "grand slam" over the east by crushing the New York Giants, 6 to 1, for their 16th straight conquest.

No sooner had the uproarious throng of 30,237 spectators settled in their seats than the men of Grimm, who haven't been stopped since the second game of Labor day's double header against Cincinnati, arose to smash the offerings of Hubbell for two runs that sealed the victory before a single batsman had been retired.

They added their other markers over the sixth, seventh and eighth innings, but they didn't need them as "General" Bill Lee throttled the Giant guns so effectively that they didn't get a single hit until Manager Bill Terry topped one in front of the plate in the fourth and beat it out. Lee surrendered only six hits, three of them scratch infield safeties.

Not until Mel Ott exploded a double down the right field line in the seventh did the Giants get one solid blow.

Not since 1916, when the Giants established an all-time record of winning 26 games in succession and added a 17-game winning streak has any National league club run up such a streak as the Cubs have in turning back the eastern clubs in successive four-game series.

The four defeats sent the Giants 7 1-2 games behind the Cubs. They came to Wrigley field fresh from a great three out of four game conquest of the St. Louis Cardinals that had revived their pennant hopes. A grand total of 123,101 fans, most of them in a frenzy from the first inning of the first game on to the finish, watched the series. The Cubs engage the Pittsburgh Pirates in a two-game series Saturday and Sunday and then move on to St. Louis for their final drive—a five-game series with the tottering Red Birds.

CARDS BEAT DODGERS

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Cardinals called on the willing Dizzy Dean Thursday to hold their winning pace against Brooklyn then went to work vigorously and pounded out a 9 to 1 decision in their final game with the Dodgers. The victory enabled the Cards to hold their place 2 1-2 games behind the fast-stepping Chicago Cubs and increase their margin over New York's third place Giants to five games.

DARTEZ-HOWELL BOUT SLATED FOR TONIGHT

Bob Dartez, 165-pound Monroe fireman, will wrestle Troy "Curly" Howell, 157-pound transient, in a return bout here tonight on the weekly boxing and wrestling program of the local transient bureau. The program will be staged in the bureau's ring on Plum street and will begin at 8 o'clock.

The Dartez-Howell bout will be the main event. All other bouts of the card will be boxing matches.

Howell defeated Dartez several weeks ago in their first match after the fireman was injured, and Dartez, having recovered, will be out tonight to get revenge.

Among the other bouts of the program will be the following: Gervis Coates, 158, of West Monroe, vs. Jessie Barksdale, 153, transient; "Sad" Sam Jones, 145, of Monroe, vs. an opponent to be named; David Hardin., 128, transient, vs. Bazzill Cooper, 130, transient; Joe Brooks, 150, transient, vs. Kid Firpo, 143, transient; James Pickens, 108, of Monroe, vs. Tommy Moore, 108, transient. "Cecil and Buddy," two boys weighing about 30 pounds each, will appear in an exhibition performance.

The weekly wrestling show was formerly held on Tuesday nights, but has been changed to Friday nights.

Record Attendance Likely To See Baer-Louis Battle

Expect Crowd To Exceed Largest In History Of New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—All records for heavyweight fight attendance in New York, boom-time or otherwise, will be broken if, as now seems likely, Joe Louis and Max Baer fight before a capacity house in the Yankee Stadium next Tuesday night.

Promoter Mike Jacobs of the 20th Century Sporting club declared Thursday that a complete sellout will mean a total attendance of nearly 100,000 and gate receipts approximating $1,200,000, including the taxes.

"We've got $700,000 that we can count right now," said Jacobs, "The way the advance sale is going, it looks like capacity, in fact, to meet the extraordinary demands, we have re-arranged the seating plans to handle a bigger crowd."

Originally the promoter's blueprints called for "tops" of 80,000 tickets and approximately $700,000 in gate receipts. Ten thousand field seats have been added and there will be standing room for close to 10,000 more fans.

The greatest previous attendance for a fight in New York City was 82,000 for the Firpo-Dempsey heavyweight championship battle of 1923. Jacobs helped Tex Rickard roll up gate receipts of $1,188,000 for that memorable fight and again aided the famous promoter in making the Dempsey-Sharkey bout in 1927 a million-dollar affair—$1,083,000 to be exact. They are the only previous million-dollar fights held in the big town although Boyle's Thirty Acres, just across the river in Jersey City, was the setting for Rickard's first major extravaganza, the Dempsey-Carpentier match in 1921.

Jacob's experience in having his ticket wagons mobbed by fans milling around the polo grounds on the night of the Dempsey-Firpo fight prompted his decision not to sell any tickets at the stadium next Tuesday night. The entire sale is being conducted through the promoter's down-town offices.

Even the general admission tickets, 8,000 of them, will be sold in advance at the Broadway headquarters of the 20th Century club, starting at 10 a.m., Saturday. These pasteboards are priced at $3.45 and good for a bird's-eye view of the proceedings from the centerfield bleachers.

Ticket brokers along Broadway priced choice $25 ringside tickets as high as $110, with the supply said to be far short of the demand. Prices were at least double the face value for other tickets, ranging from $5.75 to $16.50.

The main reason for the most extraordinary demonstration of public interest in boxing since boom days is conceded to be Joe Louis, the 21-year-old negro boy with the knockout punch. Louis has satisfied fight promoters he is the greatest heavyweight drawing card since Jack Dempsey's retirement. His match with Baer is unquestionably the first heavyweight "natural" since the Dempsey-Tunney days.

"Baer money" continued today to dominate the betting situation. The swing to the Californian, despite reports of his erratic workouts, has been pronounced for the past week in New York. A majority of fight critics is convinced Louis will win but the varous angles involved have the clans in furious debate. The one point of agreement appears to be that the fight will end in a knockout.

The preliminary card was completed today by Matchmaker Tom McArdle, including the semi-final six-rounder in which Max's brother, Buddy Baer, will fight Ford Smith, Montana heavyweight who recently stopped Art Lasky.

Hank Hankinson, Los Angeles giant, meets Eddie Mader of New York in another six-rounder. Four-round pairings include Jorge Brescia, Argentina, and Paul Pross, New York; George Turner, Sallisaw, Okla., and Heinz Kohlhaas, Germany; Bob Pastor, New York, and Terry Mitchell; Nathan Mann, New Haven, and George Chipan, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

NEVILLE TO OPEN SEASON TONIGHT

Tigers Journey To Camden, Ark., For Game With Panther '11'

The Tigers of Neville high school open their 1935 football campaign against the powerful Camden, Ark., high school Panthers tonight at 7:45 o'clock at Camden. The Bengals left Monroe at 11 o'clock this morning for the engagement and will return immediately after the game.

Neville will be tackling one of the strongest teams in Arkansas in going up against Coach Sam Colemans Panthers who have practically the same team back in harness this season that gave the Tigers such a hard fight here last fall.

The Monroe boys won by one touchdown last year, 12 to 6, but, according to reports from the Panthers' camp, they will have a harder fight on their hands tonight. Neville's line was considerably weakened by the loss of six lettermen from the line, but a backfield that is rated as the best all 'round combination the Bengals have had in years is expected to lessen to some extent any weaknesses in the line.

A squad of 23 players and three managers accompanied Coach Brown on the Arkansas invasion.

The Neville starting lineup, as announced last night by Coach Brown, will be: Ed Tonore, right end; Henry Biedenharn, right tackle; Darius Crews, right guard; P. A. Poag, Jr., center; Nick Danna, left guard; J. Cole, left tackle; Urbane Kelly, left end; Pete Haddad, quarterback; Richard Basco and Harris Bell, halfbacks; and Andrew Pappas, fullback.

The remainder of the squad consists of G. C. Kelly, a guard; Edward Endom, tackle; "Shorty" Green, guard; Bob Hanna, guard; "Shorty" Earl, guard; R. C. White, center-tackle; Bob Phophit, end; McGee, guard; J. Reitzell, halfback; Jim Davis, fullback; Milo Mattinson and Joe Gimler, halfbacks. Managers Harry Underwood, Y. Miles and Charles Chambers will go along to look after the squad's welfare.

MISSISSIPPI U. WINS GAME WITH MILLSAPS

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Despite numerous fumbles on a soggy field, the University of Mississippi pushed over three touchdowns to defeat Millsaps college 20 to 0 here Thursday night in the opening game of the season for both teams.

Coach Walker's Ole Miss charges found the slippery oval hard to hold, and fumbled time and again to spoil scoring threats, but put on the steam in the second and third quarters to win without difficulty.

PELS WIN SECOND STRAIGHT CLASH WITH CHICKS, 9-3

Vols And Crackers Battle To 7-7 Tie In Playoff Series

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The New Orleans Pelicans all but swept the Memphis Chicks out of the Shaughnessy playoff Thursday as they battered out 16 singles and one double to win their second straight game, 9 to 3, behind the steady pitching of Bill Thomas.

Lynn Nelson, on whom Manager Fred Hofman depended to square the series, fell before the Pel attack in the seventh after four singles had brought in three runs. The Pels had scored three runs in the fifth on three hits, two walks and a sacrifice to break a 1 to 1 deadlock.

It was a pitchers' duel until the fifth. New Orleans scored in the first inning on two singles and an error by Kintana. Memphis tied it up in the fourth as James and Watwood singled and James scored on Kintana's high bounder to Thomas.

The Pels got to Nelson in the fifth, and then Hofman called on big Ed Greer in the seventh to stop New Orleans' savage attack after the Pels had scored seven runs on 12 hits.

Greer throttled the Pels until the eighth when three hits brought in two more runs. Then the Chicks threatened with a rally as Benning and Marquardt singled in succession. Reese forced Benning at third, and Duke slapped a double to left center, scoring Marquardt and Reese.

That short outburst, however, was the last for the Chicks as Thomas forced James and Watwood to ground out.

Boss hit four singles in four times at bat and scored four runs.

Another small crowd of approximately 2,000 saw today's game.

The teams will go to New Orleans for the third game Saturday, New Orleans needing but one more victory for a place in the final playoff for the pennant.

Score by innings:

New Orleans	100 030 320—9 17 0
Memphis	000 100 020—3 10 2

Summary: Thomas and Autry; Nelson, Greer and Powell.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Nashville Vols and Atlanta's Crackers battled to a 7 to 7 eleven-inning deadlock here Thursday in the second game of their part in the Shaughnessy playoff drama. Approximately 4,500 fans witnessed the contest.

Going into the second contest with a 6 to 2 triumph behind them, the Crackers staged a belated rally after being whitewashed for five innings to pull up on even terms and prolong the series beyond the regularly scheduled three-out-of-five games.

Lord Byron Speece, Nashville's underhand speedball artist, held the Crackers scoreless for five innings, as the Vols ran up a 6 to 0 lead that sent Atlanta's act hurler, Harry Kelley, to the showers, but the locals bunched five hits for as many runs in the fateful sixth to threaten and collected two more scores in the eighth and ninth to knot the count.

Umpire "Steamboat" Johnson called the contest on account of darkness after the Crackers had batted in the eleventh inning, sending the teams to Nashville for an encounter Friday night with the Georgians leading by one game.

The next two games are scheduled in the Tennessee capital, for Friday evening and Sunday, with the teams returning here for the windup.

Indications were that left-handed Sharkey Eiland, an effective rookie moundsman, and Bud Thomas, co-star of the Atlanta corps, would toil in the third game under the arc lights of Sulphur Dell.

Score by innings:

Nashville	141 001 000 00—7 10 0
Atlanta	000 005 011 00—7 11 2

Summary: Speece, Watkins and Gooch; Kelley, Schmidt, Lindsey and Palmisano.

TECH TEAM GOES TO BATON ROUGE

40 Varsity Gridmen To Meet State Tigers In Two Scrimmages

RUSTON, La., Sept. 20.—(Special)—To participate, in secret supervised scrimmages with Louisiana State university's varsity football team, 40 varsity gridmen of Louisiana Tech left Ruston early Friday morning for a two-night stand at Baton Rouge. The Techmen will tangle with the Tigers on both Friday and Saturday nights.

The supervised scrimmages bear the earmarks of mutual benefit performances. The L. S. U. coaches desire that their varsity men obtain some experience in Tech's Notre Dame style of play, preparatory to the Bengals' encounters with Rice and the University of Texas. On the other hand, a taste of L. S. U.'s brand of football will be beneficial to the Louisiana Tech players as practice for their meeting with Tennessee Tech, their first opponents of the year here, as well as for the game with Southwestern Louisiana Institute, coming later in the season.

Athletics officials of L. S. U. invited the Louisiana Tech varsity men to stage the scrimmages at Baton Rouge. The entire Tech varsity team made the trip.

The Tech freshmen may meet the Wingmen at Barksdale Saturday afternoon, Head Coach Eddie McLane said, although a definite agreement to that effect had not been received by the athletics department here Thursday afternoon.

TIGERS DEFEATED BY RED SOX, 4-1 IN SERIES FINAL

Roy Johnson And Babe Dahlgren Stage Late Batting Attack

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Roy Johnson and Babe Dahlgren got together in a late batting attack Thursday to break up a pitching duel between a pair of veterans, Lefty Grove and Al Crowder and give the Red Sox a 4 to 1 victory over the league-leading Detroit Tigers Thursday.

The loss reduced Detroit's lead to 7 1-2 games over the idle New York Yankees but the Tigers ended their final eastern tour needing only two victories in their remaining nine games to clinch the pennant.

After six scoreless innings the Sox broke the deadlock when Johnson singled, advanced on Rick Ferrell's sacrifice and scored when Dahlgren bounced a double off the left center field wall. Three more runs crossed the plate in the eighth when two passes and a fielder's choice loaded the bases and Johnson sent two runs in with a single. Dahlgren followed with another hit to drive in the third run. Detroit scored in the ninth on Hank Greenberg's triple and Goose Goslin's infield out.

LIONS TO USHER IN GRID SEASON IN GAME TONIGHT

Ouachita Eleven To Play Arkansas Team At Stadium Here

The Ouachita parish high school Lions will usher in the 1935 football season for Monroe tonight when they meet the strong Crossett, Ark., high school eleven at Northeast Center of L. S. U.'s stadium at 7:30 o'clock.

The Lions have been working hard for the past three weeks in preparation for the contest and will be in good physical condition for the battle.

The game also marks the debut of Coach Vernon "Lefty" Haynes, former Tulane star, into athletic circles of north Louisiana. Coach Haynes has just begun his first year with the Lions.

A line that is believed to be the strongest Ouachita has had for some time will lead the fight against the invaders, backed by a light, fast backfield.

Candidates for the Lion eleven have been fighting hard for positions on the starting eleven and there was still some doubt as to what the starting lineup would be tonight.

Earl Cobb, Jack Warren or John Renwick will be the choice of starting ends. Billy Trimble and F. C. Eason will no doubt get the tackle jobs while Wheeler Mitchell and Moise Peters will fill the guard slots.

Either Rudy Vandenberg or Joe Butler will be at the pivot position. Both boys are veterans at the job and capable of holding the post down and the battle for this spot on the team has been the keenest, hardest fought of all the fights for positions on the eleven.

Sol Mayer, 145-pound quarterback, Eddie Bowles, 138 pound halfback, and Bob Staples, 165-pound fullback, will probably be among the starters. James Painich will probably fill the other halfback role.

Others who may see service in the backfield are W. B. Stewart, Alvin Fleming, Clyde Roye and Watson Strong. Linemen who stand a chance of getting a taste of the action are J. C. Black, a guard; Floyd Van and Bill Gattis, tackles, and James Bates, end.

MINNESOTA RATED AS STRONG TEAM

Champion Gophers Can Place Nearly Veteran Eleven On Field

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Minnesota's Thundering Herd, lacking some of its heaviest artillery from the 1934 campaign, when the Gophers swept through to the Big Ten and mythical national championships, is asking no odds this fall in the fight for retention of its titles.

The galloping Gophers, faced with the loss of two All-Americans—Francis "Pug" Lund at left half and Frank "Butch" Larson at end—as well as 15 other lettermen, still can place a nearly veteran eleven on the field.

Head Coach Bernie Bierman, however, fails to echo the belief of the fans that Minnesota will have another winner.

"We'll lose three games this fall," he predicted. "You can't lose men like Lund, Larson, Kostka, Bevan, Bengtson and Tenner and hope to replace them. Talk of a championship team is rather far fetched."

But the crushing Gophers, with a host of replacements to fill in the graduation gaps, indicate they will be hard to beat.

Captain Glenn Seidel at quarter will be flanked by veterans in the backfield, with Julius Alfonse at right half, George Roscoe, who takes the place of Lund, at left half and Sheldon Beise at full. At least six other high class backs are ready for relief duty.

The line will tell the story. Although hit hard by losses, the forward wall still will present a corps of veterans. Dale Rennebohm will be back at center, Vernon Oech and Chuck Wilkinson at the guards, and two giants, Ed Widseth and Dick Smith, at the tackles. The Gophers lost their first four ends but have two lettermen and several reserves to fill the gap.

Undefeated since 1932, although tied four times in 1933, Minnesota faces some rough opposition in the drive to continue the record—Iowa, Northwestern, Purdue, Michigan, Wisconsin, Tulane and Nebraska.

The Gophers lost a lot of power that pushed over 270 points last season while holding the opposition to 38, but many seasoned reserves plus a promising group of sophomores should ease some of Bierman's worries.

The schedule: Sept. 28, North Dakota State; Oct. 5, open date; 12, Nebraska at Lincoln; 19, Tulane; 26, Northwestern; Nov. 2, Purdue; 9, Iowa at Iowa City; 16, Michigan at Ann Arbor; 23, Wisconsin.

BEARCAT ELEVEN GAINS STRENGTH

Ruston High Grid Team Is Stronger Than Last Year

RUSTON, La., Sept. 20.—(Special)—With twelve lettermen back in the fold this season, Coach James Plummer and Assistant Coach Gray are optimistic over the outlook of the Ruston Bearcats.

The Bearcats will close two weeks of training this weekend and they will have one more week to go before they open their schedule by taking on the Lisbon high school eleven on September 27.

Since the Ruston boys won four, lost four and tied two games last year with a team that had as its nucleus four lettermen, they should enjoy a profitable season this year as only four men were lost by graduation last spring.

The lettermen are Patterson, Fogg, S. Colvin, B. Camp, J. W. Reagan, Morrison, Fallin, R. Jones, Driggers, H. Riser, Crews and L. Dring.

Besides the lettermen there are eight other candidates who are giving the lettermen a tough battle to hold their coveted places. These men are Woodard, J. Brewster, C. Brewster, Terrill, Turner, Arrant, H. Jones, W. Liner.

The Bearcats schedule is as follows: September 27, Lisbon at Ruston; October 4, Winnfield at Winnfield; October 11, Neville of Monroe at Ruston; October 18, Arcadia at Arcadia; October 25, Farmerville at Ruston; November 1, Bastrop at Ruston; November 8, pending; November 15, Homer at Homer; November 22, Minden at Ruston; November 28, Jonesboro at Jonesboro.

GENTLEMEN BEAT WILDCATS, 21-0

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Centenary college of Shreveport downed the Louisiana college Wildcats here Thursday night 21 to 0 in the opening game of the season for both teams as a record crowd of 6,000 fans watched the contest.

The Gentlemen displayed three sparkling sophomores in Stone, Ellis and Huddleson. Their veteran line opened big holes for the ball carriers to slip through. All of the scores came in the first half.

the Dodgers to six hits and struck out nine of them to hang up his 27th victory of the season. After the fourth inning such flinging wasn't needed as the Cards piled up three hits on top of a Dodger error to take a 3-1 lead in the fourth and added four more tallies in a fifth-inning burst. Jim Collins topped off the attack with his 22nd homer in the sixth.

The only Dodger run was unearned. After Buster Mills singled in the second, Jack Rothrock made a wild return throw to the infield and Bill Delancey followed up with another wild heave, letting Mills reach third. He scored on Vincent Sherlock's single.

By winning the Cards maintained a good strategic position for their final pennant drive against the Cubs, a five-game series beginning next Wednesday. Before then the Cubs play only two games while the Cards have five, giving them a chance to make up most of their current deficit.

REDS TRIM PHILS

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds clung to fifth place in the National league Thursday as Paul Derringer won his twentieth victory, setting down the Phillies 6 to 1.

Until the ninth, Derringer was wellheaded for a shutout. He allowed only two hits until then, both of them by Moore. Then Watkins singled and Moore doubled for his third blow, and Allen's grounder to Riggs allowed the only Philly run to come in. Derringer fanned eight Phils in all.

The Reds pounded Mulcahy heavily meantime, Alex Kampouris returning to form with three hits, a single, a double, and a triple.

PIRATES BEAT BRAVES

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A thrilling double play started by Outfielder Woody Jensen that cut off the tying run at the pate was the final scene Pittsburgh fans had of their 1935 team at home as the Pirates beat Boston 7 to 6 Thursday.

One run was in, Thompson was on third and Mallon on first with one out when Fletcher flied to Jensen. The Pirates' perfect peg caught Thompson at the plate.

Waite Hoyt drove in the final two Pittsburgh runs in the eighth with a line single to center, after Catcher Grace had purposely passed, filling the sacks.

LACK OF ACTION IRRITATES LOUIS

Bomber Advanced In Training; Slated To Wed Wednesday

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Sept. 20.—(AP)—An impatient and slightly irritable Joe Louis lolled about his training camp Thursday and fidgeted for the sound of the gong that will send him tearing into Max Baer in New York Tuesday night.

It was another of those too frequent off days for the action-loving Brown Bomber. He didn't strike a lick of work. After a short road jaunt, he got back into a pair of the gaudiest pajamas you ever saw and went back into the hay.

If anything, Louis is too far advanced in his training. With only one more boxing session scheduled Saturday, he'll have a lot of time to kill between now and 9 p. m. (E. S. T.) Tuesday. Except for a little loosening up work, he'll take it easy eating, sleeping, playing billiards, and fretting.

Jack Blackburn, his trainer, laughs it off, but some of the boxing experts think there is danger of Joe going a bit stale. They say he is getting disagreeable too far in advance of the fight.

From now on the negro will lead the quiet life. Until today he has been going for a short auto ride each evening, but even the spins have been ruled out. His managers will risk no chances of auto accidents on the crowded Jersey highways.

Julian Black, one of his managers, sent into New York today for moving pictures of the Baer-Schmeling fight. They hope to give Joe an entertaining hour watching these tomorrow night. Pictures of the Baer-Carnera tussle have been a regular part of the training routine.

The plan now is to keep Louis here until 10 a. m. Tuesday when he will motor into New York for the weighing-in ceremonies before the state athletic commission. The party will return to Pompton Lakes for a few days immediately after Joe's wedding to Marva Trotter, Chicago stenographer, now scheduled for Wednesday morning, win, lose or draw.

THE TARZAN TWINS — —By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Unaware that the crafty lion was lying in wait for them, Dick suggested: "Let's climb down and look for the path. It can't be far, and it's beginning to get dark." Doc shook his head. "We might stumble on that old lion again. We don't know where he'll be wandering."

After a period of silence, Dick cried out: "I've got it! We'll swing through the trees like my cousin Tarzan. Come on! This is the way to the train." Dick led off, working his way gingerly along a branch of a tree, carefully seeking foothold below and handhold above.

"I don't call that swinging," said Doc. "Well, smarty, let's see 'you' swing." "You're Tarzan's cousin—if you can't do it, how do you expect me to?" "Humph," growled Dick, "I've got to have a little practice." But despite their awkwardness, the boys made progress.

Twilight had fallen, and it was no easy matter to follow a straight line through dense jungle when the sun was not visible. So it was not strange that within a hundred yards the boys had so altered their course that they were penetrating deeper into the perilous wild!

Unaware of their error in directions, the boys were traveling farther and farther from the railway, where lay their only chance of safety. And now the sudden tropical night dropped down on the forest, enveloping them in its black folds. Below them a lion roared.

Out of the dark void rose the weird scream of a panther. Something stirred in the trees above. The night life of the jungle was wakening, with its sound of stealthily moving bodies, with its terrifying noises, each of which was a symbol perhaps of lurking death! . . .

. . . Farther away than Dick and Doc imagined, the derailed train which they had so foolishly left several hours before, was returned at last to the tracks. A guard blew his whistle. The passengers scrambled into the coaches. Not even the bravest would risk being left behind.

With a sharp hoot and a series of staccato chugs, the train got under way and was soon gliding swiftly through the jungle night. Thus was severed the last slight thread that bound the young adventurers to the outer world. They were captives of that monstrous wilderness!

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—(AP)—After marking up net gains ranging to more than 50 cents a bale during the early trading, the cotton market suffered a reaction here today and dropped back to within a point or two of the previous closing levels.

At the first call buying appeared in the market on further war talk in Europe and some light professional takings.

Active options ran up 9 to 12 points and retained the gains for about half of the trading period. But some hedge pressure appeared in the market as a scarcity of buyers developed and active options dropped back to yesterday's final levels.

Oct. was selling at 10.56, Dec. at 10.62 and May at 10.80 in the late dealings with the volume of business limited and both professional and trade interest lacking.

Prices broke through the previous closing levels during the last hour of trading and the market ended the day with a steady close net unchanged to 4 points lower.

Exports today were 13,595 bales; for the week 85,291 bales.

Cotton futures closed steady net unchanged to 4 points lower.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—War clouds, combined with technical factors, put the skids under the stock market today for losses ranging, at the worst, from 1 to around 5 points.

Selling was the heaviest in the morning when the ticker tape dropped several minutes behind floor transactions. The deluge was stemmed later and extreme declines were shaded or pared. The close was weak. Transfers approximated 2,200,000 shares.

By Victor Eubank
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Selling waves hit the stock market with such force today that prices, at their worst, tumbled 1 to 5 or more points.

The slump was attributed largely to darkening European war clouds, but partly to the fact that, due to the lengthy and rapid advance, a sizeable technical correction had been long overdue. Considerable foreign liquidation was reported.

Sporadic rallies were attempted at intervals during the decline, but these were half-hearted. In excited trading the ticker tape at one time dropped 5 minutes behind floor transactions. There were subsequent quiet periods as leaders strained at recovery.

Foreign obligations led a rather severe decline in the bond department with the Italians being under the greatest pressure. Secondary domestic loans were noticeably heavy Grains backed up after their spurt of yesterday and cotton was only moderately firm.

Among the more active share losers, off 1 to 3 or so, were Du Pont, American Can, Johns-Manville, Pullman, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Western Union, Consolidated Gas, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Liggett & Myers B, Santa Fe and U. S. Smelting. The rails showed a little more resistance than other groups.

The announced resignation of Joseph P. Kennedy as head of the securities and exchange commission had been expected and was apparently not an important influence.

Brokers said that much of the selling was of a speculative nature and that many long-pull holders were not inclined to panicky action.

Several investment advisory services issued warnings to their clients against unloading their commitments on war news. These pointed out that there was no sound reason why the threatened hostilities should be particularly disturbing to American business or markets.

Centenary Coach Said To Be Critically Ill

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The condition of E. T. Renfroe, assistant football coach at Centenary college, Shreveport, La., was described as critical at a local hospital today.

Renfroe came to Jackson yesterday to scout the Ole Miss football team, playing Millsaps college here last night, but was rushed to the hospital in the late afternoon when he developed a high fever from an infected boil on his face.

Attending physicians, who performed an operation on the boil, said that infection had set in, and poisoning of the blood stream was feared.

"It looks like erysipelas is beginning," one of the physicians said today, adding that the coach's condition was alarming.

Renfroe is at the Baptist hospital here.

MANY GRADES IN SCHOOL CROWDED

Re-Assignments Are Required In Both Local Systems

Numerous re-assignments are being made of pupils in the city and parish schools due to the fact that certain grades are overcrowded, it was stated Friday by superintendents of both systems. In some cases, certain grades have too few pupils but for the most part there are too many in attendance. This condition will cause the making of changes in many cases and some pupils will be transferred to other schools.

The sixth grade was being instituted in Millsaps school for the first time Friday with the principal, Charles Eby, as teacher. With added facilities in the Ransom, Lenwil and Millsaps schools, for the first time in several years, it was not found necessary to use the basement of the First Baptist church in West Monroe for school purposes.

A number of teachers from the city school system were planning Friday on attending the group meeting of the Louisiana Teachers' association at Hotel Bentley, Alexandria, Saturday. Those who have announced their intention to make the trip included E. L. Neville, superintendent of the city schools; Miss Julia Wossman, principal of Barkdull Faulk school; Miss Madie Moore, principal of Lida Benton school and others.
